

DAVIS OUSTS JUV. HALL CRUSADER

Crusading volunteer worker Mildred Alexander of Walnut Creek has been barred from County Juvenile Hall by Chief Probation Officer John A. Davis.

Supervisor Mel Nielsen, engaged in studies of the hall, called the move "nothing but retaliation."

Mrs. Alexander, highly critical of Davis in recent weeks, has been visiting teen-age girls in the neglected children's section of the hall for the past several months.

Davis gave four primary reasons for his decision:

"I feel that some of the claims that she has made are gross distortions of conditions that actually exist in the hall. "I feel that she has attempted to stir up the staff against the administration."

"THE LAST TIME she was at the hall, she demanded that she be given the right to hold private counseling sessions with the kids. We do not allow volunteers to do this, and no other volunteer has asked to do this."

"I feel that Mrs. Alexander is not qualified to do private counseling, by which I mean sitting down and talking about personal problems with the kids."

Beyond that, Davis accused Mrs. Alexander of bringing printed material of an "unacceptable nature" into the hall.

Davis would not specify what was brought in, but described it as a magazine of general circulation.

Nielsen, however, after conferring with Davis, said the magazine was a copy of Mademoiselle in which there were cartoons which Davis considered obscene.

"Davis' reasons for this action are stupid," Nielsen said bluntly. "Mademoiselle is a style magazine available on any magazine shelf. I'm sure worse magazines than that have been 'smuggled' into the hall."

THE SUPERVISOR from District Two said he would confer with County Administrator J. P. McBrien immediately on the matter.

Mrs. Alexander first learned that she was persona non grata Tuesday evening.

She arrived at the hall as usual with pastries for the children in Edgar Cottage, some magazines, and ready to hold a "round-table discussion" with some of the girls.

After leaving the pastries at the main desk, she went to park her car.

AN UNIDENTIFIED probation officer walked up to her "his face very red," she said and said, "I have been told to tell you that your services are no longer needed."

"I am not at liberty to say," the officer was quoted by the volunteer.

"It's clear that the heat's getting too hot for Mr. Davis," Nielsen observed angrily. He spoke to The Sun minutes after he had asked Davis to rescind his action.

"He said he would not reverse his decision," the supervisor said.

"HE'S NOT HELPING his situation one bit," Nielsen said of the probation officer. "He's made this a great big three-ring circus—and I call it very bad judgment on his part."

Asked if Mrs. Alexander would be allowed at the hall if her alleged actions were halted, Davis said, "No, she's out."

"I didn't seriously consider this action until the last time she came up and insisted that a counselor leave a counseling session she (Mrs. Alexander) was conducting."

Davis noted that the volunteer had been allowed to come into the hall "even after she appeared before the board of supervisors."

MRS. ALEXANDER claimed she was not "counseling" the children, but merely holding round-table discussions with teenager girls who would do most of the talking "about religion, morals, ethics."

"I am the only auxiliary member doing this sort of thing," Mrs. Alexander said. "The last time I was up there, one of the counselors was sent into the room to sit there."

"I TOLD HER I wouldn't stand for it," Mrs. Alexander reported that the counselor left, apparently to consult with a superior, and did not return.

"I have always abided by their rules. I was told not to discuss personal matters with the girls and I did not," she said.

When personal matters were raised," said Mrs. Alexander, "I referred the girls to their probation officers."

"I never quizzed the girls. I listened to what they had to say. I think the administration is upset because I happened to learn some things from the girls that the public did not know before," she said.

Pool Petition Nears Two-Thirds

About 20 members of Orinda Park, Inc., are circulating a petition to attempt to change the "white clause" in the bylaws of the Park Pool. It restricts members and guests to "white or caucasian race."

Two-thirds of the private club's 430 members, or 280 signatures are needed to amend the bylaws. At press time, 246 had signed the petition.

The board of directors of Orinda Park, Inc. took a straw ballot at its July meeting to determine whether to change the bylaws so that a simple majority would rule.

THE 50 PER CENT plan was defeated. Some of the 12 directors attributed their negative votes to the fact that publicity given recent incidents involving the restrictive clause put them under too much pressure.

Last month, The Sun broke a story about an Indian boy whom an Orinda family contemplated taking into their home as part of the American Friends Service Committee exchange program.

The family, pool members, were told that if any pool member wished to enforce the bylaws, the little Indian boy could be refused admission.

THE STORY also appeared in Orinda Bill Fiset's column in The Oakland Tribune.

"The board has no alternative but to enforce the bylaws unless or until amended," stated James H. Benney, president of the board. Benney is one of the signers of the petition.

It will meet August 5. There is nothing as yet on the agenda concerning the restrictive clause.

THOSE WHO ARE for retaining the "white clause" express a fear of hurting the status of the pool.

Those who are against it feel that the status of the pool is being hurt by such prejudice, particularly at a time when President Kennedy is pleading for all Americans to overcome discrimination.

Another argument given for keeping the clause is that Negroes from outside the area will flock to the pool.

PETITIONERS explain that only members of the community are eligible to join the pool, which is on El Toyonal.

They point out that certain American Field Service students at Miramonte High School would have been refused admission to the pool.

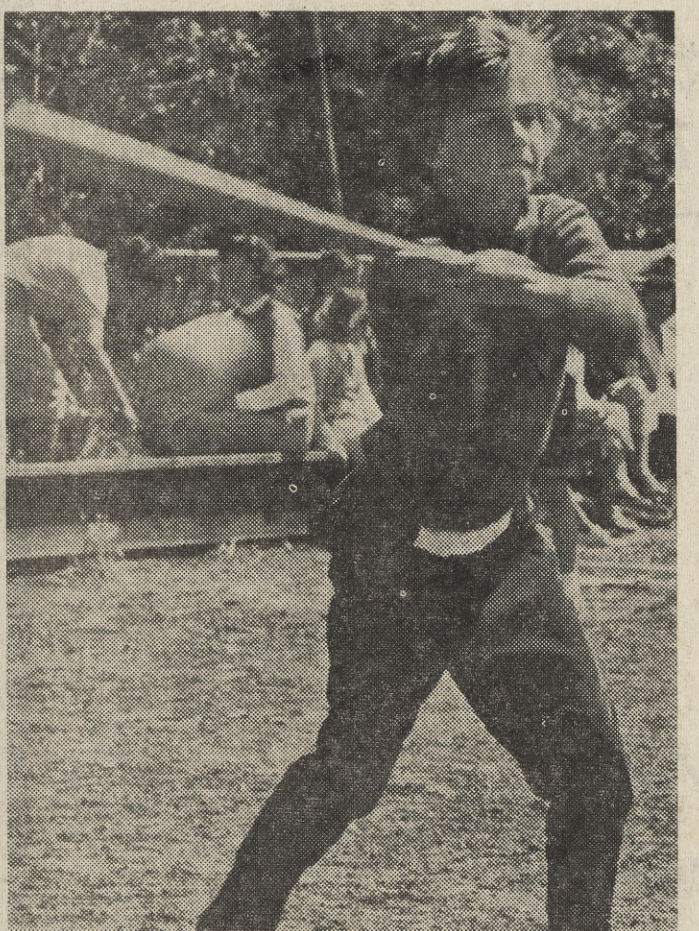

Years ago, the Rev. Fred Morrow, then minister of Orinda Community Church, dropped his membership in the pool because his friend, a Negro minister, was turned away from the pool.

Mrs. Louise Runland of El Toyonal, one of the leaders of the group circulating the petition, states: "Since recent events are causing us all to ask what we mean by democracy and Christianity, I hope that in the future the bylaws will be changed to reflect a desire not to judge a man by so superficial quality as the color of his skin."

At the Glorietta summer All-Star game last Friday morning, the Hawks trounced the Rockets, 14-8.

Mel Nickerson, physical education instructor during the 20 days of Glorietta School's summer program, selected the outstanding baseball players for the All-Star game.

EMINENT umpires were Ted Boyce, principal of Pine Grove School, and Don Hardie, principal of Glorietta's summer school and Inland Valley Elementary's principal.

Boyce is the director of the Orinda Union School District's summer physical education and recreation program, as Frank Isola is at summer camp in the Sierra.

The All-Star game was spirited. The bleachers were crowded with women who were obviously fans of particular players. Nickerson made six special prize awards. These went to (listing the Hawks first):

CAPTAINS: James White and Eric Van Dyke; outstanding boys, Robbie Sanderson and Kevin Glasky; outstanding girls, Patty Hornugg and Kathy Andrandra.

Other players were (listing Hawks first): Chris Somers, Doug Jones, Larry Collins, Steve Dewing, Chris Mervin and Kirk Hughes, John Lambert, Jay Worley, Cort Moort, Mike Palmer, Steve Erickson and Jennifer Bartlett.

Nickerson is the principal of Woodrow Wilson School in Oakland. His wife, Dorothy, is secretary to Pine Grove Principal Boyce.

Rabid Deer? County Dept. Hears Nothing

No further reports on a deer believed to be rabid have been received by the county health department.

The department informed The Sun recently that it feared a deer seen in the area of Crest Estates Drive of Walnut Creek was rabid after it attacked a dog owned by the Charles Bell family of 42 Crest Estates Drive.

For a deer to attack is very strange behavior and it usually means it is rabid, The Sun was told.

There is no way of knowing for sure, however, until the deer is found, officials of the department reported.

The dog has suffered no ill effects to date, The Sun was told. Officials said, however, it would be five or six months before this would happen, if the deer was rabid.

Trigger Signal for El Toyonal Given Green Light by Board

Free Right Turn Won't Slow Camino Pablo Flow

The signal for El Toyonal at Camino Pablo was approved by the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday. It is expected to be in operation by the end of September.

Bids will be received August 20 for a modern, three-phase, fully traffic actuated installation. A push-button operating system will be employed.

"Walk" and "Don't walk" signs will be provided to permit pedestrians to cross Camino Pablo freeway in safety.

Estimated construction cost of the project is $15,300.

The previous week, the board approved a $2000 estimated expenditure to widen El Toyonal at the Camino Pablo intersection.

The county public works department will widen El Toyonal to provide a free right turn to traffic going toward Orinda.

THIS WILL enable the even flow of traffic on Camino Pablo, as the "trigger signal" will not turn red when cars take the free right turn. The signal will normally be green for Camino Pablo traffic.

It will only change when there is either automobile or pedestrian demands.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company is cooperating in this project by moving electroliters closer to the intersection so that the signal heads controlling the left turn movements can be installed on them. This will eliminate additional poles and unnecessary clutter.

THE EL TOYONAL intersection replaced the Santa Maria Way-Camino Pablo on the county's priority list for signals. The change was attributed to "community concern."

The Orinda Association, through President Harry Fiederman and Past President Eric Nielsen, for many months called the county's attention to the "hazardous crossing at El Toyonal."

Mrs. C. O. Ford of 36 El Toyonal relentlessly carried on a campaign to remedy the situation at what she termed a "potentially lethal crossing."

Ironically, it was a near miss involving the daughter of Mrs. Ford's next door neighbor that dramatically climaxed the community's fight for a signal.

THREE 11-year-old girls narrowly missed being hit by a speeding car. Aside from the emotional upset, she suffered no worse than a skinned elbow.

"Just another step and it might have been too late for those three girls," Mrs. Ford noted.

IN ANNOUNCING the shift in intersections on the county priority list, County Traffic Engineer Mark Kermit stated that the county bases priority for signals on carefully-kept statistics over a period of years.

He asked that the community, as well as the press, base these things on facts rather than emotion.

When Camino Pablo was first built, the County Public Works Department realized that signals would be needed sooner or later.

For this reason, conduits for electrical wiring were installed at the time of construction. These conduits will make it unnecessary to dig up the street and inconvenience traffic.

"THIS PROJECT should provide additional safety without inconveniencing unduly the free flow of the increasingly heavy traffic on Camino Pablo," said Supervisor Mel Nielsen.

Ten or 15 days after the bids are received, it is estimated that work will begin on the project. Thirty work days will be allotted for completion.

Work on the widening of El Toyonal at the intersection to facilitate installation of the signal will start about August 20.

Dr. Smith's Request Turned Down by Board

Dr. Carl W. Smith's request to establish medical offices in his proposed residence at 9 Northwood Drive was unanimously denied by the county board of supervisors July 18.

Since last December, the Orinda doctor's application for a land use permit in the residential section has been before the county.

The county planning commission recommended denial. Originally its planning staff had recommended approval with conditions.

The Orinda Chamber of Commerce supported Dr. Smith's request for a variance under the county zoning ordinance.

The Orinda Association opposed the request on the principle that confining of the commercial area is a point on which all residents of the area agree.

Is Rabid Dog Running Loose Around Orinda?

Five-year-old Craig Muller of 7 Bel Air Drive, Orinda, will have his fifth shot for rabies today.

His mother, Mrs. Peter Muller, wants very much to locate the brown and black dog with white paws which bit Craig July 17. The pooch, possibly a Manchester terrier, was in the neighborhood of Glorietta Boulevard and Park Lane Drive, opposite Overhill Drive.

Without collar or license, the dog was noticed in the area for three days prior to the attack.

If the dog could be found, put under observation and proved to be healthy, the shots for Craig could be terminated, said Mrs. Muller.

She also feared the possibility of a rapid dog running loose.

Anyone with information concerning a dog of this description is asked to call 254-0512.

Baldwin Letter to Be Read

Congressman John Baldwin's answer to the Moraga Valley Community Club's letter regarding the Rheem-Moraga post office controversy will be read Monday night. The club will meet at 8 p.m. at Camino Pablo School.

President Richard Kostyryka forwarded to Baldwin a three-month study of the post office squabble. In an accompanying letter, the club's board of directors recommended that:

"THE UNITED STATES Post Office Department not be allowed to divide the community and foster the interests of a commercial land developer by labeling any local post office other than Moraga."

As of July 1, the name of the post office was changed to Rheem Valley post office. The community club had asked that any change regarding the post office in Moraga be held up until after the club's survey was completed.

Paving Way For Students

Curb and gutters will be installed along the northwest side of Bates Boulevard in Orinda from the existing curb and gutter to Davis Road.

County Public Works Director Victor Sauer said the work, authorized Tuesday by the board of supervisors, will facilitate construction of a student pedestrian walkway between Bates Boulevard and the state freeway fence.

Cost of the work is estimated at $2420.

New Village Bank Plans Go Ahead

New sketches and plot plans for the Orinda Village branch of the Bank of America were shown to members of the Planning Committee of the Orinda Association Friday night.

These met with approval of the civic group. Continental Service Company is proceeding with drawing up new plans for the bank.

THE ORIGINALLY proposed plans met with community opposition. A blank wall 20 feet from the view window wall of the Orinda Post Office particularly met with opposition of residents and postal employees.

The new design will move the building forward, creating a small plaza between the bank and post office. A wood and glass approach to the building is being designed to utilize the natural beauty of the wooded site.

"THE BANK deserves a pat on the back for their complete cooperation," said Herb Signer, chairman of the association's planning committee.

"This work represents a substantial sacrifice in time and funds spent on the present working drawings," he added.

Postmaster Laura Mallory also expressed gratitude to the bank for the decision to draw up new, more adaptable plans.

Pennies from Heaven . . .

A PENNY FOR THE SWEEPER . . . that's what we used to leave in cottage or hotel room during summer stays when we were kids . . . Wasn't it Dear Abbey who was looking for the origin or meaning of pennies found under beds & in bureau drawers? Perhaps the custom came from the British who left loose ha'e pennies for the English charwoman—something to insure her cleaning in every corner.

Lafayette probably gets better than our 25% voters-turnout for the school board election judging from the 16 eager candidates filing to replace Helen Brattain who resigned . . . But Lafayette's not winning THIS spelling bee—The John Muir's thrift shop sign spells itself "The GARRETT" & if they mean like attic, I'm ecstatic!

So how our school bus signs, esp. at some of the higher halls of learning, are spelled BUSSES . . . IT looks more like a line-up for kisses & maybe that's why so much Manonucleosis, nois?

You've heard of Pot parties, but have you ever heard of a CAR POOL party? Such was the case Sat. night when the Roger Porter's hosted a dinner party honoring Bill Lawson who stars in "Stalag 17," the Dramateurs summertime offering. On hand to share the post-theater toasts were his commuter-pals and their wives; the Bernard Frieses, Peter Grafs & Bill Vorises.

The fleur-de-lis coming into such local prominence there are those who confuse the The Lafayette, (formerly El Nido) with the new Savings & Loan Company who use the same symbol.

IT PAYS TO BE unique: Like McCann Erickson's Bill Calhoun who designed the invites for the 25th Wedding Annv. party he & Jane will co-host w/the Joe Downses this wknd. "We've been in for 100 years" reads the print over the jail bars. Inside the card: "25 each, we mean" after which celebration data, the four celebrants have signed. W/their thumbprints.

It'll be an extra celebration for first-time Grandparents, Jean & Joe. They got the word that a baby girl was born to Liz & Mike Downs at Meridian, Miss., July 2. They've named her Michele Delight and "doesn't THAT sound like a delicious sundae?" says Jean.

JOINING the Grandparent ranks recently, too, for the third time's a charm are the Harold Hellers w/the arrival of a son and third child for daughter Judy. It's Toddy or Teddy, but I'll be telling you better later. This kind of reporting falls under "Notes from my children I can't decipher Department."

A NEW DIPLOMAT on the international scene is the brand new (July 19) granddaughter of Cecile & Louis Ambler born to dgthtr. Babette & husband Bruce Jackson. The cable from Manila, where Jackson is w/the U.S. Embassy, says they're calling her Shelley Ann.

Smed and Pamela Ambler flew from Japan to Manila to view the new family member before coming home for the summer to Orinda. In the fall, Pam will enter University of Oregon while Smed will work on his master's at Cal . . . & the news of the new one means it's now NINE great-grandchildren for Mrs. H. W. Ludlum, Cecile Ambler's mother, who's visiting from Oyster Bay, L. I., for the summer.

Let's Go Dutch . . .

MORE INTERNATIONAL stuff: News from our Cloak & Dagger files: The John Harbells & their two sons are in Washington, D.C. awaiting clearance & final orders for their flight to Jordan where John has been named program director of economics at Awman near Jerusalem. They've rented their home here & will return in two years.

The Dutch Treat in store for the Stuart Hendersons is the arrival of Tineke Hagedorn from Holland. She's the sister of Julia's long-time pen pal but just the same age as Julia. They met in Europe last year when the families got together during Julia's tour w/her mom Jean. Tineke will attend high school here as a senior w/Julia.

MEANWHILE in Ireland, just like JFK, the Jim Wasleys, (Eleanor & Jim, just the two of 'em), visited Irish relatives in the round after a 3-wk. tour of England.

The Playgoer: Saturday night's electrifying "Stalag" by Dramateurs at Laf. Town Hall had another tense show running backstage. On stage, flier Dunbar was suddenly gripped w/pain, doubled over & made his exit after the fight scene. During the ensuing 7-minute intermission a doctor was called to examine the ashen-faced actor. Minutes later, he assured everyone he felt okay to go on again.

It could have been an appendix, a severe case of indigestion or just plain tension from the pressure of the fiery play, but Dunbar did go on, director Rasmussen breathed again & in true show biz style, the show "must go on." . . . (NO understudies, either!)

PREVIEW nightens: Elaine Jay Lawson kingly called "Bloody Mary" as she ran backstage to administer "blood" & make with the black & blues bruise make-up . . . Very out of place in this World War II play: The Metreclan can container (for the Xmas tree) which has since been disguised w/paint.

Overheard at the Dramateurs' party: "Didja know that Don Krampe who plays Duke is Wyatt Earp's brother?" He's akin to Hugh O'Brian . . . & the profile ain't lyin'.

COUNTRY CLOTHESLINE: It's Owen Owens, that natty newspaperman, herding his family out of the hardware store last Sunday after church in the maddest gladdest plaidest MADRAS sportcoat w/matching belt you've ever seen.

VERY "IN": The Trib's Robin Boone at the Orinda Park-Antioch meet Sat. sporting a string of cultured pearls w/a grey sweatshirt & jeans . . . & Sue Leftwich & dgthtr. Janet a terrific tennis twosome in their V-necked white tennis sweaters & short dresses. Added accessories: Two good tans!

EVER SEE AN Orange frappe or an Apricot parfait that looked as edible as Kay Tool in her Sunday best? From head to toe, the orange shades were sherbert, Herbert & the hat was, how you say, like from Mr. John?, maybe?

AND that Grecian Goddess casing the dinner wine at Lucky's last Monday during supper hour was really Working Girl Lorrie Rieger looking her latest, like Vogue, in a pristinely-pleated white sheath; decollee to do honors to her tan, she's part of the decor, doing hostess-duties, at the Furniture Mart Showings in S.F. this wk.

SATURDAY'S SUNSHINE: Happy B'day songtime for Peggy Kirby . . . The kids at Orinda Park let out a big note for Peg post-swim meet last Saturday. She's now at that Awkward Age—between High School & Social Security!

'Cancer' Novel Found Cancerous

Henry Miller's "Tropic of Cancer" was declared obscene and "not within the area of constitutional protection," according to New York State's highest court.

THE COURT of Appeals ruled in a 4-3 decision against the selling of the book in New York State by persons familiar with its contents.

The majority opinion, written by Associate Judge John Scileppi, contained passages from the book.

Scileppi noted that their inclusion was necessary to show properly the basis for the court's action.

The opinion stated: "AS CAN BE plainly seen the book is a compilation of a series of sordid narrations dealing with sex in a manner designed to appeal to the prurient interest.

"It is devoid of theme or ideas . . . it is, in short, hard-core pornography, dirt for dirt's sake and dirt for money's sake."

The case involved three employees of a Syracuse book store who were convicted of selling obscene matter.

Safari Set for John Hays, Wife

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays, 29 La Vuelta, are leaving on an African safari August 24.

The couple will hunt out of Nirobe and Kenya. They will return to Orinda, via Europe, October 6.

For 16 years Day was associated with Montgomery Ward and Company as traffic manager of the mail order and retail divisions in Chicago, Baltimore and Oakland.

He is chairman of the traffic committee of the Dried Fruit Association of California, a member of the traffic committee of the Canners League of California, the Canned Goods Shippers Association, the National Industrial Traffic League, and the Pacific Traffic Association, and holds a position on the legislative cooperative sub-committee of the California Shipper Carrier Conference.

Day resides at 42 Ivy Drive.

Curbs And Gutters For Bates Blvd.

The job will be from the existing curb and gutter to Davis Road. Object is to facilitate construction of a student pedestrian walkway between Bates Boulevard and the State freeway bridge, according to Public Works Director Vic Sauer.

Work will be done by informal contract forces.

The job is in the Warford Mesa area, across the freeway from Pine Grove School.

Hats Off To...

The Whitford Kellys, Just-Wedded 50 Years

GOLDEN WEDDING BELLS, please, for Mr. and Mrs. Whitford G. Kelly of Orinda who recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

It was no run-of-the-mill romance for the couple who met in Los Angeles June 5, 1913 and were married six weeks later in South Pasadena, July 16, 1913 after a whirlwind courtship. They're STILL holding hands!

Residents of Canyon Drive where their mailbox wears a jaunty shamrock of green, the Kellys still consider each other "the most" and share a liking of many hobbies. These include gardening for both of them and dressing making and music for her. Mr. Kelly likes woodcarving and works part-time with Clarence Betz, Orinda public accountant.

THE KELLYS are parents of two daughters, Elaine Urton of Santa Barbara and the well-known Evangeline (Kelly) Honnold of Orinda who must have inherited her skill as a musician from her mother.

Also to their credit are three granddaughters, one grandson, one great-granddaughter and one great-grandson.

A native of Huntley, Minnesota, Edna S. Kelly came to California in 1889 and has remained a resident every since. She studied piano and composed a number of compositions for piano and band. A native of San Francisco, Whitford G. Kelly was burned out in the fire following the 1906 earthquake. He was employed with Southern Pacific for almost half a century and retired from company service in 1952.

A RECEPTION honoring the "young marrieds" was given by their daughters at the First Unitarian Church of Berkeley recently and was attended by a host of friends.

As a special feature at the party, an original composition written by pianist Peg Winters entitled "Golden Wedding" and composed for the occasion was performed by the pianist and the Kellys' daughter Evangeline on the violin.

CONGRATULATIONS . . . and many, many more!

Family of the Week

ANDREW AND PHYLLIS HARTANOV AND PROGENY
Drew, Paul, Tammie, Natalie harmonize with parents

A Hartanov Hootenanny

IT TAKES strategy to catch this busy family. As parents Andrew and Phyllis Hartanov confess, "It's a rarity to find us all at home together at the same time."

But when the rare moments present themselves, family life is the swingingest judging from the sounds that echo through the large family home on Camino Don Miguel. Drew and Paul play a variety of musical instruments ranging from piano to baritone uke and trombone and the rest of the Hartanovs are eager to vocalize.

ONE OF ORINDA'S most outstanding community leaders is Andrew Hartanov. He's past president of both Hacienda Homes, Inc., and Hacienda Homes Improvement Association and a former chairman of the board of trustees at Orinda Community Church where all the family participate actively.

Manager of Uarco, a business forms firm in Emeryville, Hartanov serves as vice-president in charge of finance for Junior Advancement, a civic group dedicated to assisting students in the world of business.

VOLUNTEER work is Phyllis' forte; she was with the Volunteer Bureau of Richmond, Virginia, for years before stepping into similar shoes in other suburban areas.

A past president of the Women's Guild of Orinda Community Church, she is currently chairman of volunteers for the Contra Costa County Volunteer Bureau. Happiest on the home front, she's a popular hostess, an outstanding cook and entertaining with both ingenuity and ease.

Tammie, 21, majored in education at Stockton's Pacific University; is now majoring in jewelry as manager of that department in Kaiser Center's Joseph Magnin store.

TITIAN-TRESSED like her sister, Natalie, 19, is a junior at the University of Colorado.

She served as secretary of the Associated Students on the campus during her sophomore year.

THE DAY after the picture was taken, Paul flew to Pasadena to vacation with the John Gillivan family, former Orinda neighbors of the Hartanovs. His later summer plans, along with Drew, include a P.E. camping trip with other church youth into the Trinity Alps.

YOU CAN bet Drew's guitar will go along with him to Malibu, the Young Life camp later summer and Mom Phyllis, as usual, will be packing them all up and welcoming them home again, a kind of existence that's second nature to her by now.

When it comes to a family resemblance, the close-knit Hartanovs are a case in point. They're all look-alikes, including Phyllis and Andy; she's even been mistaken for her husband's sister!

DA STARTS SCHOOL COMMITTEE PROBE

By TERRY HANSEN
The district attorney's office started an investigation yesterday to determine if some members of the controversial Contra Costa Committee on School District Organization were illegally appointed.

During the week Dr. Floyd Marchus, superintendent of county schools, had to appoint a new member to the committee and reappoint two others.

THE DISTRICT attorney investigation began after a private citizen, Sidney Webb, of Orinda suggested in a letter that some committee members had been illegally appointed.

The letter was presented to the committee at its special meeting Monday night.

Webb contended that some committee members were possibly illegally serving because at the time of their appointment the committee didn't comprise a quorum.

Other developments on the stormy unification committee scene include:

1. THE GROUP, admitting that many "technical errors" have been committed, will soon ask the State Board of Education for an extension of time to submit a master plan for the county school system, including the Lafayette, Orinda, Canyon, Moraga and Walnut Creek areas.

2. Setting a new series of public meetings relative to any unification arrangement for the central county area.

3. And, finally, the uncertainty at this point as to whether or not the State Board of Education will consider it legal for the "West" unification idea that proposes to have Miramonte and Campolindo high schools in a unified district with Orinda, Moraga and Canyon elementary school districts.

Yesterday, as the district attorney's office was going over the latest paper developments in an attempt to decide what is legal and what isn't one school official told The Sun:

"Everything's so confusing I don't even understand what is happening."

As an afterthought, he added, "But now maybe the public will understand the problem that revolves around any program contemplating the unification of various school districts and will attend in force the next series of meetings."

AS MATTERS now stand, the Contra Costa County Committee on School District Organization has proposed a "West" area school unification on its hands—which may or may not be legal—but no firm action in regard to the "East" area which would encompass a unified district with Alacanes, Del Valle and Las Lomas high schools being connected with the Lafayette and Walnut Creek elementary districts.

And the committee has already indicated that it is in a mood to ask the State Board of Education to disapprove the "West" plan—if and when it is submitted.

Monday night the Committee on School District Organization held a special meeting at county school headquarters in Pleasant Hill.

DR. JACK SHAHBAZIAN of Alamo, the chairman, had some bad news for his fellow committee members.

He read a lengthy letter from Webb, a financial examiner, 9 Descanso Drive, Orinda.

In the letter, Webb (he was in attendance) pointed out that several committee members were possibly illegally serving because at the time of their appointment there hadn't been a quorum of the committee.

Dr. H. Frank Bradford of the county school's department, who's also the committee's secretary, told the group, "If the district attorney agrees that these are illegal appointments, you might as well resign, go home, and wait for the county school superintendent to reappoint you."

His voice growing more emotional, Dr. Shahbazian said, "It becomes irritating to have these stabs thrown at you. There's been no misrepresentation, no malignment by this committee. We've been absolutely honest."

"IT STYMIES, embarrasses us," Webb, sitting in the audience, fired back, "Don't make me an exception. I'm just pointing out some loopholes."

Tuesday morning it was proved that Webb was correct. Even before Webb's letters had been received by Charles L. Hemmings, the deputy district attorney who handles school matters, Dr. Bradford was able to tell The Sun:

"We found that there had been some illegal appointments made."

Thus, Dr. Marchus, the county superintendent of schools, had to on Wednesday morning:

1. REPLACE Robert E. Reed of Antioch by appointing Dr. George Muller, an Antioch dentist, to the committee. (A school official told The Sun it was discovered that Reed was a part-time substitute teacher in one of the districts. Furthermore, his vote had been the key to the selection of other persons to the committee.)

2. Reappoint Albert Ellis of Pittsburg and Perk A. Slingsby of Alamo to the committee.

The County Committee on School District Organization was supposed to have planted its unification plan with the State Board of Education by Sept. 15.

The deadline can nowhere be met.

THE DISTRICT attorney's office has ruled that the committee cannot rescind its action of May 21 calling for the half-unification plan; in other words, the tie-up of Orinda, Moraga and Canyon with Miramonte and Campolindo high schools.

So, since the committee doesn't desire to come up with a unification plan for the remainder of the Alacanes High School District with Lafayette and Walnut Creek elementary districts, it is asking for an extension of time so that the matter can be probed more deeply.

In time, the committee may formally submit some kind of proposed unification arrangement to the State Board of Education.

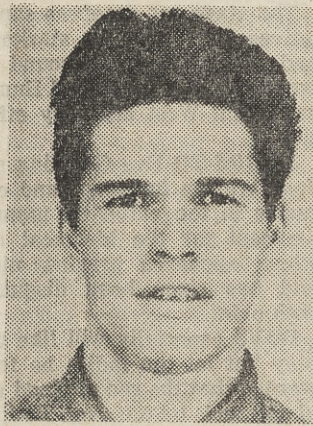

In time, the state may approve or disapprove of the idea.

AND WHEN it comes back to the committee, the latter can then revise everything.

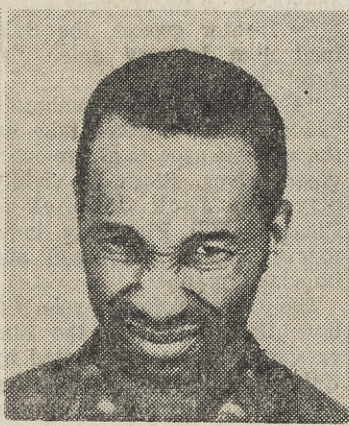

"And in time, one committee member told The Sun, "the whole matter may come up for a vote by the people."

With a sorrowful shake of his head, he added, "But don't ask me when that might happen."

Man-Hunt Traces 3 More Escapees

JOSEPH SUTTON

RAYMOND GREY

JOHN CRUISE

Three men remained at large late yesterday after the biggest jail break in Contra Costa history.

But Captain W. D. Trawick of the sheriff's department told The Sun he had "quite a few leads" on John Cruise, Raymond Grey and Joseph Sutton.

"We know just about where Sutton and Cruise are holed up at," Trawick said. "It's just a matter of tracking them down in a large city in the southern area."

He said his department believes Grey is still in the East Bay area.

THE CAPTAIN would make no predictions as to when the men would be picked up and the Sunday escape case wrapped up.

Cruise, 26, of 5200 Clayton Road, Concord, was serving time for burglary, while Sutton, 20, of El Cerrito, was in for robbery.

Grey, an Oakland man, 32, had been convicted of forgery.

Earlier this week deputies rounded up six of the escapees. On Tuesday they were aided by the Antioch police department as they flushed out three of the escapees from a bowling alley and a deserted fishing shack.

Late yesterday Sheriff Walter F. Young obtained federal fugitive warrants for Cruise and Sutton, fearing the pair may have fled the state.

The move allows the Federal Bureau of Investigation to join the massive man-hunt.

REPORTS of a suspicious-looking man eating in an Antioch bowling alley led to the capture of Charles Willis Jr. at noon.

The same day Detective Sergeants Glen Warden and John Scott of the sheriff's department and Antioch inspector Leonard Reed closed in on Edmund Braz and Wilbur Wiltz in a deserted fishing shack on Union Island in San Joaquin County.

Robert Gonzales and Melvin Park were nabbed later in the day in a home at 434 West 11th Street, Pittsburg.

AT THE SAME time, deputies arrested Tommy Reyes, 28, of Oakland, also found in the Union Island fishing shack. Reyes was charged with aiding and abetting escapees and for violation of parole.

He is also sought by Alameda police for a burglary there.

The next day Sacramento police, acting on a tip from the mother of escapee John Batchelder, 28, nabbed him at the mother's home in that city. He was returned to Contra Costa later the same day.

By Wednesday, the department had released the wife of the third man in the fishing shack, 18-year-old Jan Carol Reyes.

She had been held at county jail since Monday night after admitting she had given breakfast to Braz and Wiltz at the Reyes Oakland apartment early Monday.

THE GIRL DENIED knowledge of the fact that the men were escapees, but Trawick said investigation of her role would continue.

He said that the 1950 blue Ford sedan in which the three drove to the fishing shack was registered in her name.

Also picked up was Gonzales' 17-year-old wife, Lydia, held in juvenile hall for aiding and abetting prisoners.

She was found with her husband and Park at the home of Rose Silva.

OFFICIALS called the break extremely well-timed.

Reports indicate a fight was staged in one section of the jail, distracting deputies while the nine carried out the break.

Violent Crashes Kill Two

MAID CONTESTANTS—These girls are among 17 entrants in the Contra Costa County Fair Maid contest to be held at the fairgrounds in Antioch Thursday. ### High Costs of Killing Cats Anger Dog-Owners

Contra Costa County spends $53,000 a year on cats—much of it to kill about 16,000 of them—and dog owners pay most of the costs.

Because of the inequity and to decrease county animal control center deficits, Agricultural Commissioner A. L. Seeley asked the board of supervisors Tuesday to approve a new law to license cats for a $1.50 fee.

Only real support for the move at the board level came from Supervisor Mel Nielsen, a poodle owner, who agreed with representatives of the Contra Costa Kennel Club that it was about time the cat people started to pay their way.

BUT, SAID Supervisor Tom Coll, no new service would be provided cats or their owners. Cats would not even be identified through the licensing inasmuch as no actual tags or collars would be required.

Coll based his argument in part on that of the Mt. Diablo Cat Fancier's Association, whose spokesman said licensing would not solve the problem of a county overrun with strays, biters and occasionally rabid cats.

The matter was deferred to the board until August 6 for a decision.

Also recommended to the board was a rated provision for owners of several cats.

THOSE WITH between four and 10 cats would pay a flat $5 fee, while those with more than 10 cats would be charged $10.

Seeley also asked that the board revise present dog licensing fees.

He suggested a flat $4 fee instead of two fees as at present, $3 for males and spayed females, $5 for unspayed females.

The two moves would bring in an estimated $34,000 bonus and would make the animal control centers 90 per cent self-supporting.

About 25 per cent of the animal control $215,000 budget is spent on cat problems, he said.

Six Girls Enter Fair Maid Contest

Six girls from the central county area have now entered the Fair Maid contest to be held during the County Fair at Antioch next week.

Two weeks ago it looked as if our area would have to forfeit without an entry. Now, however, all five local communities have representatives.

THE LOCAL ENTRIES are Sheryl Ann Fieldhouse, 3 Oakview Court, Pleasant Hill; Candy Hackler, 3 Bates Boulevard, Orinda; Mary Costello, 3099 Manzano Drive, Walnut Creek; Loretta Foard, Blackhawk Ranch, Danville; Evelyn Allen, 101 West Hookston Road, Pleasant Hill; and Anita Arrigo, 919 Anita Court, Lafayette.

The contestants will wear both bathing suits and evening gowns in the competition.

Judging will take place Monday starting at 8 a.m.

Apartment House Assn. Explains Many Services

The multiple and varied services and benefits of the newly-formed Apartment House Association of Contra Costa County was explained recently, according to Jack E. Diggs, the association's president.

EXPLAINING the various services and benefits was Robert Snell, executive director of the Alameda County group, who is also president of the California State Association.

Harold L. Strom, of the law firm of Strom, Bluer and Weiser, attorneys for the new association, discussed the charter, by-laws and legal services available to members.

Al Sorensen of the Retail Credit Association of Contra Costa County discussed the benefits of his office which would be made available to the members.

Vets To Hold Panel On Dogs

The Alameda-Contra Costa Veterinary Medical Association will meet Wednesday evening for a panel round-table discussion on "Geriatric Diseases and Ear Problems in the Dog."

Flaming Inferno Takes Life of Pittsburg Man

A flaming freeway crash and a high-speed collision involving a car and motorcycle this week cost the lives of two men, according to the California Highway Patrol.

A crash, followed by an explosion and burst of flames, killed a 22-year-old student in Walnut Creek Friday as two cars literally exploded in a high-speed collision on the Freeway near Geary Road.

Arthur Maxwell Chatman, 22, of Pittsburg died minutes after being pulled from the wreckage by officers of the Highway Patrol and nearby residents.

CALIFORNIA Highway Patrol reports revealed that Chatman's 13-year-old brother, Larry, and cousin, Robert Walker, 29, of Iowa, got out before the car became consumed in flames.

Both were taken to the County Hospital in a state of shock.

Occupants of the other car, Richard M. Schaumburg, 19, of 3186 Ida Drive, Concord, the driver, and Gary Loomis, 17, of 2301 N. Sixth Street, Concord, were admitted to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek for treatment of lacerations and possible fractures.

Assistant Fire Chief Al Streuli of Central Fire Department said, "There is no question that this is the worst scene that I have witnessed in the last 13 years."

The car driven by Schaumburg appeared to have been blown apart with wreckage strewn for over 300 yards.

THE CHATMAN car was consumed by flames.

According to Streuli, about five calls were phoned into the station, all giving wrong directions.

"It was by luck that we happened to see it before we got sidetracked," Streuli said.

Chatman reportedly had planned to enter the University of California in the fall.

Motorcyclist Benjamin Leonard Oldemeyer, 40, of San Francisco was killed Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. when his cycle was struck from the rear by a car near Pleasant Hill.

CALIFORNIA Highway Patrol reports indicated that the east-bound cycle was hit from the rear by a car driven by Joseph W. Whitlow, 25, of 2563 Lucy Lane, Walnut Creek, near the freeway off ramp.

Whitlow was held pending further investigation but since has been released on bail.

A chance to cut local rapid transit property taxes by about five cents will be examined carefully before any action is taken, The Sun learned this week.

County Administrator J. P. McBrien explained that a new state law allows counties to levy an additional percentage of existing auto registration fees to apply to rapid transit property taxes.

A feature of the Collier bill which raised gas taxes by one cent, the law would enable Contra Costa to raise about $450,000 and cut transit property taxes by around five cents.

Public Works Director Victor Sauer said thinking behind the bill was to tax auto drivers for mass transit because transit will supposedly improve highway driving conditions.

BOTH SUPERVISORS Mel Nielsen and Edmund Linscheid told The Sun they wanted to study the bill before taking a stand.

The funds raised through the tax would be applied to the transit budget and then cut from the local rate by the county.

Local application of the measure was discussed after Bay Area Rapid Transit Director Harry L. Morrison said the tax rate could be cut by 10 to 12 cents if all jurisdictions applied it to one bond redemption program.

"Regardless of how these funds are used and granted, I can assure you that our program and the people of our county will benefit," Morrison said.

MORRISON called the amendment of the Collier bill to provide the boost for transit a sign of "the raw political power the people of the three counties now have because of the courage of their vote last November 6."

In other local transit matters, Morrison commented on the district's hopes for speedy acquisition of land on transit routes.

He said he realized some property owners were being adversely affected because transit plans clouded title to parcels and lowered their market values.

On the other hand, he noted that the district also hopes to act quickly to acquire lands to prevent extraordinary inflation on some properties.

The Contra Costa director predicted that development of the transit track between Walnut Creek and Concord would bring "untold millions of dollars to the area."

Health Dept. To Give Free X-Rays in WC

The Health Department mobile X-ray unit will be located at 1400 Broadway in the Broadway Shopping Center, Walnut Creek from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 6 to 7:30 p.m., Friday.

Free X-rays are available to all people 15 years or older.

Foodhandlers who wish to complete requirements for their individual health permits may obtain a chest X-ray and a permit application at the unit.

The County Health Department provides the free chest X-rays as a part of its Tuberculosis Control Program.

Waldie Gets Resolution For Muir Home

Both houses of the State Legislature recently passed unanimously a resolution requesting Congress to make John Muir's home a national monument.

Assemblyman Jerome Waldie introduced the bill at the request of Dr. Henry M. Weber, conservation chairman of the California Garden Clubs.

Congress must act to make the home a national monument,

WEEKEND WEATHER FORECAST

Continued fair and warmer summer weather is predicted for the central county this weekend by the United States Weather Bureau.

The forecaster states that temperatures are expected to be in near and above normal. A happy note, he adds, is that winds are likely to calm down.

Sounds like a perfect weekend for a summer family outing.

'Wilderness' in Hidden Valley

An open house for parents and interested friends recently brought to a close a unique local day camp. The Lafayette-Orinda Presbyterian Church has operated its successful day camp for the last four years.

The first year was at the Girl Scout camp, Twin Canyons, and the last three years at its own local site, Wilderness Park.

Wilderness Park is a beautiful wooded site adjoining the church which is located on a knoll above Hidden Valley. It is one of the few natural settings preserved in the area. Church leaders had the foresight to save and develop it as a park.

PARENTS and other church members have spent many hours under the direction of Don Rogers working on the site to make it usable. Six individual units have been developed.

Each has a stove, cupboard, table and benches. Rustic retaining walls and steps have been built where necessary.

Trails have been developed and marked. An amphitheater and a worship circle equipped with a stone fireplace have been built. Spraying for poison oak has been carried on year round.

FIVE UNITS operated this year with 14 children in each. There were three adult counselors in each unit. Three of the units have college or high school assistants.

The counselors are Ken Dorking, Ruth Bollwinkel, John Clark, Becky Horne, Bernice Bryan, Jim Burris, Elsie Hale, Barbara Clark, Helen Kimball, Alan Million, Betty Lou Leibold, Alma Bailey, Paul Schmidt, Curt Raschke, Gwen Reichert, Bud Pettit, Barbara Hill and Ted Ockels.

One counselor said that while the children had all enjoyed and benefited from the camp experience, she felt she had received far more from the experience than they had.

Some counselors serve also as

CRAFTS—Becky Horne, counselor, helps Kathy Swift saw plywood. As one counselor expressed it, staff members in special fields, according to Bob Gallen, camp director. Mrs. Kimball is nurse and song leader. Mr. and Mrs. John Clark are worship leaders. Mrs. Dink Dorking is supply coordinator. Bobby Callen is a junior leader.

MISS JEANNE CHRISTY, day camp chairman, the originator of the camp, is a general all-round worker.

The purpose of the camp, outlined in the folder given each counselor, is to give children an understanding of and relationship to God; and to live with others in ways that are Christian.

Each unit was free to plan its own program. However, there were certain similarities.

EACH GROUP developed its own site and selected its own name.

Meals were planned and prepared within each unit—wood sawed and fires carefully prepared and supervised.

The children in each unit enjoyed following the Horseshoe Trail and pausing to examine plants and animals typical of the area. Thirty-five markers were placed along the trail at the beginning of the session and an accompanying sheet of interesting information was prepared.

INDIVIDUAL WORSHIP services have been planned within each unit and impromptu expressions of gratitude to and love for God have developed as the youngsters have explored "God's World."

"In this camp there was an awareness of God's world and the freedom to talk about God and worship Him."

Each unit participated in the general worship service at the big worship circle. Committees of children helped plan the service and individual units contributed by preparing plays, prayers, reading stories and sharing the experiences of their own units.

FOR THE first time "Smokey, the Bear" published a daily camp newspaper and interesting tid-bits of information, such as "Drink Dorking spotted a jack-rabbit" or "Debbie McAdams proudly announces she's glad that her Dad was one of the daddies that helped work on the camp" or "Bruce Wakefield captured a beautiful blue-bellied lizard."

ALTHOUGH FORMAL day camp use of Wilderness Park has ended for the summer, the park is available for use all year round by organized groups, such as Boy and Girl Scout troops, Campfire Girl groups, Indian Guide groups, Sunday School classes and youth and adult groups.

All such groups are required to fill out an application which can be obtained at the church office.

Local Musician Blows Horn for The Kim Sisters

Mario "Butch" Guarneri, 20, who resides with his parents, Fred and Inez Guarneri at 58 Orchard Road, Orinda, recently received an offer to play lead trumpet on the Kim Sisters' tour currently appearing at Harrah's Club in Reno, according to Fred Guarneri.

The talented youth came home this summer to enroll at the University of California for two education courses.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Guarneri, most of the local band leaders called him for several engagements.

GUARNERI, often referred to as "Butch," graduated as Miramonte High School student body president in 1960.

He entered the University of Southern California in the fall of 1960 and this September will enter the campus as a senior.

Trumpeter Guarneri is a music-education major and has consistently played "first-chair" in the university's symphonic orchestra and band.

His professional work has consisted of being a member of the Los Angeles Brass Ensemble and performing with various orchestras in the Los Angeles area such as the Brentwood Symphony orchestra and the San Francisco opera company's orchestra during their appearances at Los Angeles.

Guarneri reportedly declined an offer to tour the United States with the San Francisco Ballet orchestra because the tour would have interfered with his schooling.

"MUSIC-MAN" Guarneri has had his own combo, on and off campus.

The talented youth has worked on TV commercials for Wheat Chex and Corn Chex products and is a member of the band on the current radio commercial for the new Mother's Cookies songs.

Guarneri has also had the opportunity to play with some of Hollywood's top musicians.

MARIO, a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, led his colleagues in the Spring Song Fest at the Hollywood Bowl for the past two years.

In his sophomore year, Guarneri received the award as outstanding under-classman in his University of California chapter.

They are Phil O. Grant, son of Mrs. E. Grant, 336 Rheem Boulevard, Moraga; Philip Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gardner, 37 Irving Lane, Orinda; and John F. Funk, 3929 Happy Valley Road, Lafayette.

'T.V. Costs Must Remain Within Budget' ... Ebert

School Superintendent Francis Ebert told the Lafayette Board of Trustees recently that the cost of a temporary instructional television system for seventh and eighth grades must be kept within a $10,000 budget.

The superintendent's statement was made after a progress report of consulting engineers was submitted by Sig Hansen, district business manager.

THE REPORT from the engineers currently making a study for the Lafayette School District under direction of Glen Pensinger of San Jose State College revealed that a temporary studio would cost about $12,500.

Ebert said the cost must be kept within the proposed budget inasmuch as the studio would be a temporary installation.

He added that the school district ultimately wants a good physical plant, however, in the meantime, it desires a temporary studio.

Business Manager Hansen class rooms were inadequate as stressed that available mobile a temporary studio.

THE ENGINEER's report revealed that the construction of a temporary studio would involve some 40 by 40 square feet, "see-thru" double glass windows as well as a grid installation for required flexibility in lighting.

The report indicated that not only was more space desired, but more "free area" in which to work.

According to Hansen, the specifications were accountable for the cost jump.

Hansen told the board that the concrete slab floor and the mandatory 13-foot head space would at least lend itself to the structure relative to later expansion and possible future use for storage of instruction materials.

EBERT TOLD the Board that the district was interested in getting the TV signal carried in the best possible manner at the most feasible price.

HS Student In Math Program

Robert Williams, a student at Miramonte High School, is enrolled in a summer study program in mathematics now being conducted at the University of California campus at Berkeley.

Williams, who lives at 400 Miner Road, Orinda, is one of 25 Northern California students selected for participation in the program.

The six-week course of study is designed to introduce the students to advanced mathematical concepts usually presented only at the college level.

Included are fundamental aspects of number theory, abstract mathematics and advanced geometry. The study program emphasizes the role of mathematics as a vital tool in modern science and technology.

The program is administered by University Extension in cooperation with the National Science Foundation.

It is directed by Frantisek Wolf, professor of mathematics at Berkeley.

The program will conclude August 2.

Youth in 48,000 elementary and secondary schools give annually to the Red Cross.

Room at the Top

By HEC HANCOCK

While the world feared for their safety two weeks ago, it now turns out that Don Jensen of Walnut Creek and his Harvard Mountaineering Club climbing team were on the very threshold of conquering Alaska's Mt. McKinley in a manner never before accomplished.

Mt. McKinley, highest peak on the North America continent, has been climbed many times, but no one has ever accomplished the feat and scaled Wickersham Wall in the process. Wickersham Wall is a headwall approximately 6000 vertical feet in height, and extending about 8500 feet in length. It's 54 degree slope has thus far successfully turned back all attempts at sub-mission.

Leaving their base camp June 28, Jensen and the Harvard group made their tortuous way up the wall, with every move, every step a new challenge.

On July 16th, Jensen and his mates had realized their victory. On that day, they reached the summit of North Peak. AND MORE important, they'd whipped the Wall.

Before them remained South Peak, the summit of Mt. McKinley. This climb was completed on July 19 without any undue problems. Starting their descent down the Western Buttress, the group made it back to the base camp by July 22. From this point they made the long trek back to civilization.

Concern for the welfare of the group developed two weeks ago when efforts to make contact with them had been unsuccessful. Bush pilot extraordinary, Don Shelton had been retained by the group to make periodic checks on their progress. When he was unable to make contact via radio or sight them, he spread the word.

HOWEVER, the group was sighted at the 17,000 foot mark within a day or two and a big sigh of relief went up.

Irwin and Fran Jensen of 210 Lakewood Road, Walnut Creek, received a phone call this week from their adventuresome son, assuring them that all was well. "Don reported that the trip had been a complete success. They had realized all of the objectives of the mission. Don also mentioned that they hadn't encountered any problems they hadn't anticipated or been able to overcome," stated the senior Jensen.

The Harvard Mountaineering Club will start their homeward trek in their small bus.

They would like to climb a few mountains.

Viewing the Arts 'Stalag 17', Sterling Dramateurs' Production

By MARIE MONAHAN

GRIMNESS wears a grin in "Stalag 17," the current offering by the Dramateurs at the Lafayette Town Hall.

And the stark reality of a stage set as a barracks (by that name) somewhere in Germany during World War II counts on its colorful characters to deliver much fast comical dialogue and tense action in chronicling the explosive plot of the play and the day-to-day dreariness of a bleak wartime existence.

UNDER THE sharp direction of the dedicated perfectionist that is Carl Rasmussen, the all-male cast delivers another sure-fire hit.

On a seesaw of moods, from bloodshed and bedlam to cuss-words and comedy, the play is packed with emotional fire.

Considering the compelling characterizations, it's as if Rasmussen reached right out to find the "right man" for each role, such type-casting you've seldom seen the likes of before.

For one, there's Harry Shapiro or "Animal" as he's called by this prisoner-pals and Sam Cohen is "Animal"—sloppy and slovenly, good-natured and gnomish. A twenty-year vet of little theater groups, the Oakland man is very much "at ease" in his part.

"ANIMAL" and his bunkmate buddy Stosh, together take on the amiable aspects of two overgrown elves. Stosh is vividly played by Jack Coppock of Pleasant Hill Playgoers in a marvelously cocky, brash and impulsive manner.

The cynical Sefton, a role William Holden held in the film version, is powerfully acted by Ralph Kendley with hard-hitting virility. He has performed previously with La Jolla Playhouse as well as Pleasant Hill Playgoers of which group he's past president.

In his part as Price, Lynn Pryer is smooth, punctuating his precise speech and movements with obvious frustrations and seething feelingness. A local teacher experienced in little theater, his ability to handle a tricky role is exceptional.

BILL LAWSON of Orinda as the barracks chief reveals a natural ability to develop "Hot" with sensitivity and integrity and turns in a characterization of extreme versatility that ranges from calm to explosive.

The world of men and war is well-represented in the sterling cast: "Herby," the lean, lanky 18-year-old who steals a scene with a wash tub, is played expertly by Richard Smith, a young drama student at S.F. State. Don Krampe's "Duke" is another natural and hair-combing in front of the patched-up mirror he gears a very strong likeness to Wyatt Earp. No wonder! He's brother to Hugh O'Brian.

THE SOULFUL-EYED pathetic Horney, who has been in confinement too long, is played by Keith Falk. Falk's face registering utter disbelief at the bloody aftermath of a brutal beating is a beautiful piece of pathos.

A big hunk of hero-type is Dunbar done sincerely by handsome Nick Alexakos of Walnut Creek. His flyer-friend Reed, a civilian actor, is Perry Palin who gives pretty good with the Cagney imitations—not to mention his agility to oversee set construction as part of the Dramateurs' production staff.

Paul Pollaczek's flawless diction flavors an international accent making him a distinguished Geneva Man. And Cliff Lowe, who bounces backstage as stage manager between laughable lines out front as Marko, is a humorous contribution.

THE MEN of the militia are vivid and varied and all very good. Dave Walkley, assistant dean of law at U.C., plays the stone-faced German Captain like a Prussian martinet. Bill Kuhlman, a navy lieutenant from Pleasant Hill, is Corporal Schultz, pompous, jovial and sadistic. And Dick Albert as an S.S. Guard rates loud applause for his rosy-glow scene "on the carpet." Little Theater is "out of this world" to Albert who is a space scientist professionally and obviously enjoys the extreme contrast of the make-believe world.

The stage set deserves superlatives for its simple starkness and the lighting and sound effect by Ed Aszkhar, Boyd Hunter and Vicki West are very effective.

KUDOS TO Eve Goulding and Joan Watson for props and costumes in the authentic manner—except for the Metreol can which appeared preview night and has since been disguised with paint.

BOYS especially will like this play but let the ladies be forewarned that the red of blood and black and blues of built-up bruises are the artistic creations of Elaine Jay Lawson in charge of make-up.

STALAG 17 continues Friday and Saturdays through August 24. Curtain time is 8:30 at Lafayette Town Hall and reservations are best made early at 254-3909 or at the Town Hall (284-9965) after 7 p.m. Don't miss it. Last Saturday night's performance cracked like a whip.

'In the Shadows'

BEFUDDLED DIRECTIONS

One newshawk of The Sun is still gasping for breath after his recent encounter with two Pleasant Hill men . . . bouncing into Pleasant Hill in his car, he was blinded by the setting sun and couldn't spot the street signs . . . stopping his car, the newshawk asked two passing men, "Where's Santa Barbara?" . . . he meant the avenue, of course . . . but the two men, smiling at first, and then growing deadly serious, remarked, "Well, you're somewhat out of the way." Ha, ha. "Santa Barbara is down near Los Angeles!" . . . Without a murmur of thanks, the reporter got back in his car and fought his way through the blinding sun to find more intelligent persons who might know their own city streets . . .

TV FIRST, ESSENTIALS

LATER — The Lafayette School District will have instructional television for classroom teaching in operation by the first of the year—making the local district a "pioneer" in the field in Northern California. Trustees have authorized the sale of $100,000 in bonds to cover the first phase of the program. The district, with 10 schools, is anxiously awaiting the first TV studio and first TV sets, but not everyone in Lafayette is pleased. Many residents claim that the district's teaching program is geared to the above-average student with college goals in the Cal-Stanford category. For the below-average pupils, which are plentiful in any district regardless of its wealth, there is little nothing offered, some claim. There are no work shops, home ec courses, etc.

Reason: no facilities. School board member Mrs. Helen Brattain abstained from the TV vote. It wasn't that she didn't like the idea of TV—it was just that there were other things needed first. She had mentioned in the past the plight of the students who were obligated to take PE each day, but could not change clothes or take showers after the physical exercise because there were no facilities. When it rains, PE moves to the covered walkways, etc. she pointed out. Mrs. Brattain argued in vain and her fellow members heard her not—and Mrs. Brattain has now resigned with two years to go on her term. So let there be TV! Less important things will come later.

PERSONAL ESCORT — When the California State Bar Association has its annual convention in San Francisco in September, there will be many distinguished guests—with guest of honor being Earl Warren, chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court. It's the 10th anniversary of his appointment and the lawyers are going all out to honor their native son. In fact they invited all the supreme court judges and the recently-retired ones as well. All but two or three are planning to make the trip and Associate Justice Brennan will be personally escorted by the Sam Wagener (Orinda) while in the area. Wagener, an Oakland lawyer, is a member of the association's board of governors. Each governor gets a judge to keep track of during the convention—and all are now busy with the history of their particular charge. It wouldn't be a good idea to acclaim a vital majority decision if your man voted the other way, etc.

A WONDER — People in Lafayette have been wondering for some time why so many different stairs, only a few feet from one another, were built from the roadway of the Lafayette cemetery to the grassy section in front. As far as can be determined there is just one grave in the area to the Mt. Diablo Boulevard side of the cemetery roadway—but he sure must have a lot of relatives.

BANKAMERICARD FOR COCKTAILS? Blue-nosed endorsement of bankers for red-eyed pleasure of weary travelers was revealed last week when Lee Scarlett, realtor and hotelman, was making his pitch for his proposed motel in Pleasant Hill.

"It's only a matter of good business to include a cocktail lounge in the plans," he explained to councilmen. "Financial institutions won't lend money for motels now if you don't include all hotel services in the plans—and by that they very definitely include a cocktail bar." Step right up and bend an elbow for good ol' private emmerprise . . .

GENTLEMEN CHEFS, East-bay society for gourmets gathered yesterday at Marini's in Rheem Center, Moraga, for their 12th annual Country Store.

Festivities included golf, swimming and a "fat man's race" at noon. Live chickens, rabbits, turkeys, geese and dancing girls—and, oh yes—food fit for Farouk.

Burglars Strike Third Country Club in 6 Days

Three country clubs have been hit by burglars in the central county area, and two of them are missing approximately $1700 in cash and checks.

Entering by unknown means, burglars raided an office at Round Hill Country Club in Alamo Tuesday night and got away with $1067 in cash and checks.

Monday Reliez Valley Country Club was knocked over for about $600 in cash and two valuable paintings. Deputies at the scene noted that several windows at the club were unlocked, but could not determine precise method of entry.

To the west, Orinda Country Club got off easily late last week as burglars attempted to force a door to a snack bar.

One lock was pried away, reports say, but responsibilities were foisted by two others on the door. Miscellaneous thefts and burglaries kept deputies busy throughout the central county area.

In Walnut Creek Wednesday, an office employee reported a large quantity of narcotics missing from a medical building at 2090 Ygnacio Valley Road. Burglars apparently broke through a rear door.

Student Ben Byke, 18, of 2701 Danville Highway, is still puzzling over the theft of a 10-foot surfboard taken from the top of his MG convertible Sunday night while the auto was parked in his garage.

Another aquatics-minded thief made off with a 10-horsepower outboard motor owned by John Fordan, 1124 Santa Lucia Avenue, Pleasant Hill. Fordan told deputies that both the motor and some tools were taken from a locker at his home over the weekend.

And in Walnut Creek last week, Osterizer salesman Walter Elefant returned to his home at 260 Monticello Drive after a vacation to find six of the blending machines stolen from his garage.

Group To Study Water System Improvement

Directors of Contra Costa County Water District have voted unanimously to retain Stone and Youngberg, municipal financing consultants, to make a financial feasibility study of certain water system improvements for the district's treated water division.

This was recommended by James M. Montgomery, Consulting Engineers, Inc., recently. The engineering firm submitted a long-range master plan report some months ago.

In its recommendations were made for a program of system expansion and improvement to meet the future demands of the Central Contra Costa County area through the year 2020.

THE STONE and Youngberg study will be concerned only with the phase of the projected program covering the years from 1963 through 1969.

"Everything points to continuing population growth in the central county area," said Craig Randall, chairman of TWD's citizens advisory committee. "Right now we are averaging a net increase of 1600 new connections per year, which means from five to six thousand new water users annually.

"Because water is the key to progress and development, we believe sincerely that the Treated Water Division has an obligation to have an ample supply of water available for future residents, in advance of the need," Randall declared.

The committee chairman pointed out that it was impractical as well as uneconomical to defer action in building additional water facilities until after these people have arrived.

HE SAID THAT construction of new storage capacity, pumps, pipelines and other improvements needed to serve the new population must begin as soon as possible.

"Otherwise, the development of the Central County area may be seriously hampered."

"Best of all, from the viewpoint of present residents, all our preliminary information seems to indicate that the necessary improvements and additions to our water system may be accomplished with no increase in taxes or water rates," Randall said.

Board Of Supervisors

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors took the following action Tuesday in Martinez:

LIENS — Abandoned present county lien policy on the recommendation of the Social Programs Committee.

WATER — Heard county water agency recommendations that the county strengthen contacts with state and federal water agency representatives to insure reduction of salinity in the Delta area waters.

PROTESTS — Deferred until August 6 a protest hearing on the closing of county animal control centers on Saturdays and at noon hours.

DISTRICT — Continued for one week discussion of dissolution of the Danville Community Services District.

SHORT STREET — Turn down appeal of planning commission ruling that Danville Short Street, the county's shortest, be abandoned.

TRANSIT — Accepted a report from BARDT Director Harry L. Morrison Jr. on rapid transit taxes, financing and progress.

BRIDGE — Awarded a contract to Jack L. Strange Construction Company for repair of Bancroft Road Bridge in the Walnut Creek area.

SERVICE — Awarded service pins to 19 county employees.

LICENSING — Deferred until August 6 action on a proposal that cats be licensed and that dog licenses be adjusted to a $4 flat rate.

AGREEMENTS — Authorized the county administrator to execute general services and street maintenance agreements with the City of Pleasant Hill.

SIGNAL — Called for bids on August 20, 11 a.m., for installation of traffic signals at Camino Pablo and El Toyonal in Orinda.

CONDEMNATION — Adopted a resolution of necessity to condemn properties in the Olympic Boulevard right-of-way in the Walnut Creek area.

JOINT POWERS — Authorized the chairman to sign agreements with cities of Concord and Pleasant Hill for cooperative widening and improvement of Monument Boulevard.

Fair 'Hoe-Down' To Attract Many Square Dancers

On the official program of the Contra Costa County Fair, to be held Wednesday to Aug. 4, next Friday night's square dance should prove the biggest turn out for a hoe-down in history, according to Don Anderson, chairman of this year's dance committee.

AN OPEN invitation is extended to all those thousands of fans of square dancing, and according to Anderson, all persons whether affiliated with an official club or not, are invited to enjoy the forthcoming hoe-down.

It was noted that some of the clubs sending representatives or callers to the Friday night dance are Antioch Amblers, Delta Drifters, Walnut Squarewheelers, Concord Rebels, Valley Paws and Maws, Concord Stompers, Jacks & Jennies, Teen Twirlers, and Pleasant Hill Hillbillies.

Anderson said that full western dress will be expected of club members.

The chairman added, "Friday night promises to be a real swinging time in Antioch, and since the price of admission to the fairgrounds is the only cost . . . a record crowd of dancing fans is expected."

3-Cent Tax Cut Seen For CCCSD

A three-cent cut in the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District tax rate was indicated late last week as directors adopted the 1963-64 budget.

Total expenditures are estimated as $822,359, with revenues at $253,000.

Reasons for the tax rate cut to about 56.5 cents from this year's 59.2 cents is an increase in the sprawling district's assessed valuation from about $183 million to $201 million, according to district secretary Claude McPhee.

COMBINED TAX rate includes both maintenance and operation and bond retirement.

Also in the new budget is a tentative five per cent salary increase for district employees which would be effective January 1, 1964 if approved by directors in final budget deliberations.

Massive Job-Hunt Underway To Put Local Kids To Work

"We've got to go where the jobs are."

With these words on his lips, Walnut Creek labor relations consultant John Longaker woke up one morning about four weeks ago with hopes that he had a solution for the job-seeking youth of this county—and of the state.

"It suddenly occurred to me we'd been going about it in the wrong way," Longaker told The Sun this week as his teams of teen-agers began to canvass homes in Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill in search of jobs.

In the unincorporated central county area, the Sheriff's Ladies had already begun their telephone campaign with the same goal.

WITHIN HOURS of that awakening, Longaker was sitting in the Sacramento office of Governor Edmund G. Brown surrounded by the state's top employment advisors.

"Brown gave me the go-ahead—and if the project works here, it can work throughout the state under the Department of Employment," Longaker said.

The "project" was summed up in the Walnut Creek man's early-morning words: "Go where the jobs are."

"I'm still reeling from the way the idea has been received by cities, officials and leaders in the communities," the labor relations consultant said.

SUPPORT HAS come from the cities of Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill and Concord in the form of funds to pay young canvassers who will pound the pavement and suburbia's front doors to find out exactly where the jobs are.

And telephones are ringing all over the county as the Sheriff's Ladies make their calls.

The question in either case will be the same: "Do you have work for a teen-ager, high school or college student?"

Canvassers will take the job on the spot, as will the ladies.

The door-to-door workers will also leave a stamped and addressed card which the homeowner may mail to local offices of the Department of Employment if something turns up.

OR THE PROSPECTIVE employer may call. "Call in the morning, we'll have a young person working for you by afternoon," Longaker said.

The cooperative job-hunt will stress the fact that few jobs are too small and few are too difficult.

"Because the part-time and summer job situation is getting tighter," Longaker advised, "more and more kids are willing to do things they wouldn't have done a few years ago—garden work, agricultural work, errands, that sort of thing."

At the same time, the county's 24,000 prospective young employees includes many with partial college and/or technical educations and, in many instances, professional experience.

WHILE STATE minimum wages of $1.25 an hour will apply only to businesses (effective August 1), the former H. J. Heinz personnel officer said the program seeks this wage for the work to be done.

"Home and yard work is regulated only by what the youngsters are willing to work for, and this will be up to the employer and the employed to work out to be done."

Major differences between existing practices and the job-hunt pilot project are the intensive campaign of actual hunting and a streamlined contact procedure between the Department of Employment and the persons seeking work.

ANOTHER DIFFERENCE is that Longaker has called upon community leaders to run the program.

Committees have volunteered in each of the cities and these committees determine how the program is to be applied. In Walnut Creek alone, for example, the committee decided to go after commercial as well as residential jobs.

SIGNING UP—Marilyn Carmichael, 18, of Lafayette, tells Longaker of her job qualifications. The labor relations consultant hired the girl to work in his Walnut Creek office where he directs the county-wide search for jobs for youth.

"These local business and civic leaders are aware of the problem," Longaker said. "They're the ones who are continually approached by friends seeking jobs for their youngsters."

Another facet of "the problem" has been pointed out by law enforcement leaders serving. "We've found that juvenile delinquency is at its worst during the summer months when kids are idle," reported Longaker.

THE MAN with the idea has a philosophy to back it: "I know that many kids in suburbia aren't in dire need of funds for their educations or activities. But, whether or not Dad can pay the way, they want and need to be gainfully employed."

It is the community's responsibility to fill this need, Longaker feels.

"We'll have kids from each area working in their own neighborhoods and communities," he said.

He called the plan a possible alternative to costly, tax-supported youth labor programs considered by all levels of government.

If the program goes over—"we hope for around 3000 jobs"—in Contra Costa, Longaker will bow out and turn his idea over to the state department of employment.

Fair Exhibitors Name Leaders

This year, the county fair has adopted the theme of "Water Wonderland" and the busy, untiring chairmen and chairwomen are keeping this in mind while they plan their exhibits or decorations for this five-day event.

KEEPING BUSY with the 1963 Fair preparations are, Mrs. Evelyn Bell of Walnut Creek, floriculture exhibits; Mrs. Betty Wingrove of Antioch, home economics exhibits; Miss Ann Pleasant and John Carnill of Concord, 4-H clubs exhibits; Richard Havens of Brentwood, Future Farmers exhibits; Don Galloway of Concord, professional floriculture exhibits; George H. Cardinet and T. P. Johnston of Concord, horse show; Wallace England of Tracy, livestock; Don Meagher of Antioch, special events; Mrs. Norman Martinetti of Pittsburg, art show; Andy Amsbaugh of Modesto, rodeo; Mrs. Zoe Raines, Fair Maid Contest; Ed Calisei of Antioch, parade; Mrs. Vern Greene of Antioch, diaper derby; Mrs. Vi Marshall of Antioch, teen-age dances; Bob Smith of Antioch, newspaperboys' handlebar handicap, and Dr. Carl Fiedler of Danville, Grange Day picnic.

EACH OF these people were reported as spending many hours in planning with other committee members on preparing for the finest of fairs that this county has seen.

They have not only adopted the "Water Wonderland" theme, but are willing to help all exhibitors with their decorations and will aid any group in carrying out this year's theme, both in atmosphere and real presentations.

THE FIVE-DAY event begins July 31 at the fairgrounds at Antioch with family entertainment every day and night, and feature events including the Dennis Day Show, two rodeo performances, Nascar races, horse show and the Fair Maid Contest.

Vet-Med Group Meet Wednesday

The Alameda-Contra Costa Medical Association will meet Wednesday for a panel roundtable discussion on "Geriatric Diseases and Ear Problems in the Dog," according to Dr. Donald Martin, president of the veterinary group.

Veterinary medical doctors of the two Eastbay counties will discuss these phases of pet health, exchanging knowledge, techniques and procedures, it was learned.

Moderator for the 7:30 p.m. meeting at Peluso's Bermuda, 21st and Franklin, Oakland, will be Dr. J. M. Harris.

Cave-In Buries Laborer

Pipe-layer Doyle Vicars, 21, was buried up to his neck early this week as earth in a Moraga sewer-line ditch caved in on him. The 21-year-old Pleasant Hill man said he was working just ahead of shoring operations in the six-foot ditch on Moraga Road when he saw the earth start to give way.

He told sheriff's deputies later that he turned and ran but was buried up to his neck.

Fellow workers in the Gallagher & Burke Construction Company crew dug the man out and rushed him to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Walnut Creek where he was treated for a dislocated shoulder and multiple bruises.

Vicars, 324 Grayson Road, Pleasant Hill, was released after treatment Monday.

Joint Powers Deal Okayed For Creek Work

A joint exercise of powers agreement with the City of Walnut Creek was approved by the Contra Costa Flood Control Commission Tuesday night for paving of Las Trampas Creek at a point west of South Main Street.

According to District Engineer Robert Lowe, the pavement of grouted rock is expected to expedite maintenance of the channel at a point where it approaches the Broadway Shopping Center.

In other business, the commission deferred until August 13 a decision on bank protection work proposed for Las Trampas Creek by residents of the Glendale area in Lafayette until August 13.

Another study of Las Trampas in the same area was authorized by the board at the request of Robert A. McGuire.

Also deferred was a request by G. C. Nichandros to replace a bridge over San Ramon Creek in the Creekside area of Walnut Creek.

Lowe explained that the property involved is now under condemnation proceedings for the eventual Army Corps of Engineers project on the channel, and that several legal questions must be ironed out before work can proceed.

Gets Members

New realtor members were accepted into the Contra Costa Board of Realtors, according to Ray Henry, president.

Approved for membership were John Sousa, Jr., 3471 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette; Everett French, 1855 Mt. Diablo Street, Concord, and Lucille Von Helms, 21 Orinda Way, Orinda.

Defer Protest Hearing on Animal Control

Protests against the closing of county animal control centers on Saturdays and at noon hours will have to wait until August 6, the board of supervisors decided Tuesday.

The hearing scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday was rescheduled for the same time on the later date.

In the meantime, the board has ordered that the centers be kept open during the hours in question at least until the matter is resolved following the public hearing.

Tickets Available

Tickets are available for a $3 donation from Mrs. Richard Lininger, Lafayette.

$1.3 Million 'Bonus' For CCC in Gas Taxes

Supervisor Ed Linscheid suggested Tuesday that about $1.3 million in additional gas tax refunds to be received by Contra Costa and its cities be poured into City-County Thoroughfare projects.

At least two central county cities already have plans for particular projects.

The added cash will come from the one-cent gas tax increase authorized last week with the signing of the Collier bill. The county expects about $822,000, while cities throughout Contra Costa would rake in around $500,000.

Linscheid indicated that his plan would create a more equitable arrangement between cities and the county, each agency paying half of project costs.

In Walnut Creek, Manager L. A. Kimball said he anticipated about $40,000 from the tax hike which could be used in conjunction with a bond issue for local improvements.

He said study of capital improvement needs now underway would probably determine precisely where the money was to be spent.

To the north, City Manager Leland Walton of Pleasant Hill said widening and landscaping of Contra Costa Boulevard between Doray Avenue and Taylor Boulevard would have first priority on that city's $70,000 increase.

Beyond that, the city has set priorities on Gregory Lane, Boyd Road and Oak Park Boulevard, he said.

The money collected must be matched by cities and the county and used to improve streets which connect with state highways where the improvement would relieve highway traffic congestion.

Cliffhangers From Here On Out in WC

With the end of the season just a week away, the Walnut Creek Junior Baseball program is building to several climactic finishes.

Heading into the final week of play, only the Optimist Cubs of the Pioneer League and Burton's Nursery of the Western loop appear to have any real breathing room.

As the fight for league honors goes down to the wire, it is interesting to note that every team in the program has registered at least one win during the season.

COAST LEAGUE

Prospects appear good, right now that the final game of the season between Reliable Finance and A&W Root Beer will be the decider. Reliable had to go into extra innings to down the Air Force Falcons, 6-3. Their one-two pitching of Bob Laverty and Gary LeRoy held the Falcon bats in check. However, it was tremendous defensive play by the Reliable in field that was the difference. It was a must game for Reliable, as they had to win to keep the race alive. A Reliable victory over the undefeated A&W crew could necessitate a playoff.

Sports & Games downed the Elks Club, 8-5, to keep their record over .500. The Elks Club demonstrated strong hitting by Bobby Huston with a homer and two singles, plus another home-run by Garth Hatfield.

A two-run double by Mike Haentjens and a triple by Jim Olsen supported the strong pitching of Bobby Douglass to lead the Davis Donuts to a 6-4 win over W.C. Sheet Metal.

Pitchers Gary LeRoy and Bob Laverty again combined to lift Reliable Finance to a victory over Army-Navy Surplus. In addition to pitching, Laverty made an outstanding play at first base. A fielding gem was provided by Wally Taylor of Reliable. Reliable's leading hitters were Neil Reese and Randy Hyllegard.

Meet 'n' Eat downed Sandra Joy in an extra-inning contest, 5-4. Robby Burns, winning pitcher for Meet 'n' Eat, drove in the winning run in the bottom of the seventh. Joe Looney homered for the winners.

Steve Clark and Chipper Allen of the Cubs pitched shutout ball for five innings. Jay Murphy of WCYAA hammered a home-run, spoiling both the no-hitter and the shutout. However, Cubs won, 3-1.

General Office Equipment defeated Loray, 13-6, for their second win of the year. Jeff Hull and Craig Sanders pitched for the G.O. team. Doubles by Hull and Bruce Boyer, coupled with triples by Tom Anderson and Eddie Pace, all contributed to the victory.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Clifford Electric strengthened their hold on second place by virtue of their 10-7 victory over Hendrick Piano Co. Steve Ulvi was the winning pitcher. Ken Kratina provided the long ball, with a triple, for Clifford.

Gil Aschom exploded for 12 runs in one inning, to take a 16-10 lead, then hung on grimly as Oakmont Memorial Park fought back only to end up one run short, 16-15. Rodd Indberg, Allyn Hammond and Steve Sanborn shared the pitching for the Ramblers. Lance Willis paced them at the plate with four RBI's. Terry White homered for the losers.

Norm Robinson made it six in a row, to hold onto first place, defeating W.C. Aggregates, 16-3. Eric Bowen, Robinson pitcher, gave up five hits while striking out 12. Leading hitters for the Chevrons were: Gerry Mer-four RBI's; Kern Trembath with two singles, and Larry Wilson with four RBI's.

Gene Spencer Service brought their record to .500 by virtue of their forfeit win over Diablo Cleaners.

Oakmont steamrollered Fort-most Dairies, 24-4. Stephen Punt pitched two-hit ball, while hitting two homers, one with the bases jammed, to collect a total of six RBI's for the day. Jan Kilbuck starred on defense for the winners.

Norm Robinson defeated Hendrick Piano, 12-6, in a make-up game. Eric Bowen won his sixth game for the Chevrons. Leading the winners at the plate was John Staudt, with a homer and two singles; Jerry Merten, with a triple and single, and Kern Trembath and Danny Bertram with two singles. Mike Anthofer hit a two-run double and started a double play. Bob Leland made a sparkling defensive play. For the losers, John hit a triple and a two-run double.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Lynn Keathley pitched his second complete game of the season as the Tigers downed Russ' Barber Shop, 6-4. Norm Read collected his second home run in the last two games. Russ' pitcher, Richard Chaddock, struck out 16 Tigers in a fine pitching effort.

Photo Center, after losing several heartbreakers, finally held onto a lead to register their first victory of the season, a 7-6 win over the Lions Club. David Bell and Steve Merritt pitched for the winners. Merritt also aided his own cause by driving in three runs with a bases-loaded double. Fine defensive plays for Photo Center were turned in by Steve Douglas, Jeff Shaver and David Bell.

Hull's Chapel, behind the strong pitching of Glenn Robb, shut out W.C. Savings, 8-0. Robb and Jim Crew collected four of the 10 hits garnered by the Chapel. Savings was held to two hits, one by Mark Thomas and one by Hank Glover. Ted Crawford and Don Darrimon both pitched well for Savings.

Russ' Barber Shop won a close one from Berkeley Farms, 5-3. Berkeley Farms, trailing 3-1 in the third inning, had a two-run single off the bat of Frank Martin to forge into the lead. Russ' got the deciding run on a triple by Craig Turner and a single by Richard Spradling. Richard Chaddock was the winning hurler.

WCYAA continued to pace the league as they registered a 10-6 win over Broadway Merchants. Jim Looney, WCYAA pitcher, collected a key triple and snuffed off a potential Broadway rally with a fine catch to end the game. Jack Cowherd pitched very well for the losers.

Bob McCurdy pitched a three-hitter in leading Jack's Meats to an 8-4 win over Berkeley Farms. Mike Harbarth collected the only extra-base blow of the game, a double, for the winners.

Hull's Chapel, playing its second game of the week, downed the Lions Club 16-4. Larry Soranolo with three hits paced Hull's at the plate. Bert Steele homered for Hull's. Glenn Robb collected the win as he pitched three innings. For the Lions Bruce Simonds and Robert Coombs collected the only hits.

PIONEER LEAGUE

Optimist Cardinals dealt a severe blow to the pennant aspirations of the Medical Arts Pharmacy nine as they downed the Pharmacy 7-5. Rich Jacobsen, Cardinal pitcher, struck out 14 batters. Jacobsen, Paul Weidolf and Ed Romano all contributed to the Cardinal hitting.

Jim Huff proved to be the big gun for the Optimist Cubs as they downed the Giants, 8-5. Huff, in addition to pitching a three-hitter, hit a home run, double and a sacrifice fly. Other hitters for the Cubs were Rory Osborne, with two hits; Mark Laackso, with two hits; Chris Davis and Fred King, with one hit. Osborne and Gary Malmgren turned in the outstanding plays of the game. Collecting the only hits for the Giants were Gerald Johnston, Mark Boman and Pete Katz.

WESTERN LEAGUE

Lupoi Market exploded for 10 runs in the bottom of the sixth inning as they defeated the Bullets, 10-7. Chuck Budde, Bill Michalak and John Pelletier shared the pitching chore for Lupoi. Steve Sleeper and Budde paced Lupoi at the plate. Andy Schatz and Charlie Thompson each had two hits for the losers.

Burton Nursery downed Marshall Realtors, 14-9. Every player in the Burton lineup collected at least one hit. Burton's Denny Tierney had two hits and four RBI's. For Marshall, Tom Lindberg and Dennis Johnston both tripled.

The game between Lupoi Market and the WCYAA was postponed until a later date.

The Bullets, hit by the manpower shortage, were forced to forfeit to the Walnut Bowl.

Aquabears Capture First Place in Livermore Meet

Amassing 399 1/2 points, the Aquabears of Orinda impressively outdistanced second-place Pleasant Hill to walk off with the team trophy at the Livermore Aquarodeo last weekend. Spearheading the Aquabears were Chris Umphred and Charles Schillinsky, who won high point honors in the women's and men's divisions respectively.

Chris Umphred won the 15-17 girls' 200-meter individual medley in 2:42.5 and the senior women's 200-meter butterfly in 2:42.1.

Rebs-Colts Head CCC

Walnut Creek Tigers will be endeavoring to bring their season record back up to the .500 mark as they move over to tangle with the Pleasant Hill Twins on the Pleasant Hill High School diamond Sunday at 8 p.m.

Other Contra Costa County League action will find the Concord Rebels hosting the La Fiestita club on the Concord Park field. Fitzpatrick Colt 45's, once more devoting full attention to the CCC will take on the winless Lafayette Gaels.

Upon the conclusion of last weekend's activity, the Concord Rebs with a 5-0 record led the loop. Fitzpatrick Colt 45's are 4-0. However, it must be decided whether an earlier game between the Colts and the Rebs will be postponed to a later date or awarded to the Rebs as a forfeit.

AFTER HAVING dropped a 9-2 decision on Saturday to the visiting Richmond Merchants in a non-league encounter, the Tigers bounced back to battle the favored Colts down to the wire before succumbing to an 8-3 score.

Leading 3-1 going into the ninth, the Tigers fell before a seven-run Colt rally.

Bob Kreider got the Tigers on the scoreboard in the first inning when he clouted a towering shot over the left center field barrier with two men on the bags.

In the second inning, Dennis DiMaggio stroked a long fly ball to center field to score Bob Davis. The run was unearned, as Jim Botti had bobbled a double play ball earlier.

TIGER starter Larry Bradford retired from the fray in the fourth inning with a sore flipper. Rich Bovo, who had worked long innings in Saturday's encounter, came on to hold the Colt power in check for five innings.

Ron Morelli, the Antioch flash, started the Colt ninth off with a single. MacDonald tied the contest up with a shot out of the park. After Bill Stone and Walt Dixon singled before Steve Beratta filed out.

At this point, Bob Kreider came on to spell the weary Bovo. With two down successive singles by Davis, Mortola, Vasquez and Morelli, his second of the frame, completed the damage.

Tiger hopes revived briefly in the ninth when Kreider got his third hit of the day. However, no further help was forthcoming for the Tiger cause.

THE TIGERS will entertain the Philly Rookies tomorrow at Civic Field. The Phils figure to be in a mean mood, having had the stuffing kicked out of them Sunday at Eureka.

Concord's Rebs found their hitting eye to subdue the Twins, 10-5.

Getting things underway, Rex Bankhead singled Ryan Bowerbank and Bud Nelson across the plate for two runs in the first.

Bouncing back in their half of the first, the Twins got three runs when Bob Moon got two RBI's on a double. Moon scored on Champion's safety to give the Twins a one-run lead.

THE REBS got on the scoreboard in the third with a run to knot the contest at 3-3. In the fifth, Al Lakesman singled to chase two runs across the plate. Previously, Bud Nelson had singled and Terry Cavaglia had been awarded first base after having been nicked by a pitched ball.

Nelson hammered a grand slam homer to close the gap.

However, in the sixth inning, the Giants belted out nine runs to completely overwhelm the Rebs. Nye started the damage with a homer. Successive hits by Alamo, Randy Thaman, Joe McElroy, Ransome, Beemer, Quattamatteo, O'Toole and Nick Lujan paced the hit barrage.

In the seventh, the Giants garnered six more runs to bring their total for the day 22 tallies.

Terry Cavaglia homered in the seventh stanza, but the blow served only as a symbol of defiance as the gap between the two clubs was much too great to bridge.

Bud Nelson was charged with the loss for the Rebs.

Orinda's Swinging!

The rapidly expanding domain of Orinda tennis power was felt in Provo, Utah, and St. Louis, Missouri, over the weekend.

Rich Silbert of Orinda swept to the boys' 18 and under novice title of the National Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament conducted on the Brigham Young University campus at Provo. Silbert turned back Hays McCarty of Tennessee, 6-1, 6-1, in the finals Sunday to lay claim to the huge trophy.

Meanwhile, Lynne Abbes, Orinda's young tennis queen, won the girls' 16 singles title in the St. Louis Invitational tournament, turning back Patsy Rippy, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5. Miss Abbes then teamed with Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego to win the girls' 14 doubles title. The pair downed Bonnie Ellis and Sheryl Pruitt in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3.

Silbert will be a senior this fall at Miramonte and is making a bid to inherit Gary Rose's No. 1 position on the Mat net squad.

Silbert won the right to participate in the Provo tourney by capturing the Junior Chamber district title at Sacramento earlier this summer.

While he didn't experience much difficulty in the final match, he had to fight back from the brink of defeat to win his quarter-final battle.

Facing Steve Grace of Mississippi, Silbert was down 5-1 in the third set. Changing his tactics, the Orinda lad slowed the pace of the game down, playing more from the baseline. The switch worked and he was able to take command, winning the match 1-6, 6-4, 8-6.

Silbert paired with Charles Fritz of Roseville and reached the semi-finals in the doubles before being eliminated. The Orinda youngster, who has been playing for seven years under the guidance of his father, Albert Silbert, was the only boy of the California contingent to bring home a trophy.

Miss Abbes wound up her eastern invasion with the National 16 tournament currently under way at Lakebluff, Illinois. She had advanced to the round of 16 by press time.

Her coach, Kevin Merrick of the Orinda Country Club, has just returned from the area and reports his charge is playing well.

"Lynne was hitting the ball very well. However, she has had some trouble adjusting to the clay courts the National 14s and National 16s are played on. In the St. Louis Invitational, play was on hard courts, and she felt much more at home. Lynne prefers the faster play of the hard courts," reports Merrick.

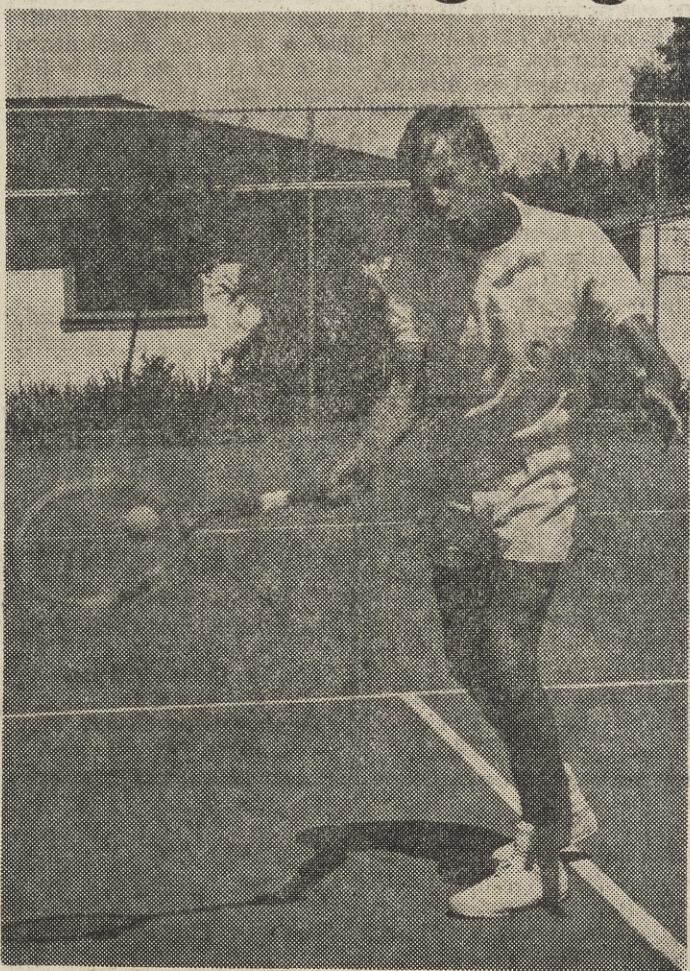

Upon her return home, Lynne will work on the finer points of her game, and tentatively will enter the Pacific Coast Championships at the Berkeley Tennis Club this fall.

Young Lafayette Merman Goes On To Swim Win

Craig Conrad of Lafayette, swimming for the Berkeley Y swim team, won the high point trophy in the boys' 8 and under group in the Livermore Aquadeo last weekend.

Young Conrad racked up a first place in the 25-meter breaststroke, a second in the 25-meter freestyle and a fifth in the backstroke.

Previously, the diminutive Lafayette merman had won the 50-meter butterfly event in the Midsummer Invitational Swimming Meet at North Las Vegas. Conrad also took the blue ribbon home in the 50-meter backstroke. In addition, he had second place finishes in the 50-meter breaststroke, 100-meter freestyle and 100-meter individual medley.

Soon... And Those Fish Will Be Biting Up High

Long's Bait Shop — "Red" Turner, formerly of the Pacific Sports Fishing Center, is now with Al, Oscar and the boys. Welcome, Red. Raccoon Straights are giving up old line-sides on trolling with frozen anchovie. The salmon picture is that all boats are doing good outside the gate.

Spanish Flats Boat Dock — Lake Berryessa — Not to good this past weekend—water skiers rolling up the water, etc.—few black bass, but cats and crappie fair.

Don's Bait Shop—Clear Lake Highlands—Got to work for the black bass in the a.m. and p.m. Use a Webaduck at medium depth and you'll get a few; crappie has slowed down, but bluegill and cats O.K.

Davis' Lake Resort — Lake Almondor—Over the springs is good for trout, and the nearby Hamilton Branch is real good. . . all nearby streams doing good, too. . . Mtn. Meadow Res. —Walker Lake very good for black bass.

Been keeping tabs on the recent F&G fiasco done up by you-know-who. According to the metropolitan dailies, Assemblyman Pauline Davis is trying to make amends by putting through something that will make the 1963 laws effective. Well, I sincerely hope that it will go through and straighten out this mess. As for her making amends to the sportsmen, well—I believe she is all washed up. Believe she should resign, and we should drop a line to Sacramento and let them know what and who we wish to sit on this particular committee. Henry Clineschmidt isn't a bad bet—providing he has learned that you don't mix rifle and bow hunters in the same season.

U.S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel terms his bill "of the highest importance in wildlife conservation." The bill he is speak-second successive year is aping about is the one that for proved by the Senate and now goes to the House. This is the Tulelake Wildlife Refuge. Remember, last year about this time it was approved by the Senate, but died in the House for lack of support. Well, get out the pen and paper and get a letter off to the House of Representatives, but quick. The bill will also add some 6900 acres to the refuge. This bill is very important to all of us — farmer, rancher, sportsmen alike. So get busy, get off your rusty dusty and do something for a change.

IN ABOUT TWO weeks the streams up high will be just right. Conventional streamers are okay for spring's high, fast and roily streams. However, most minnow life in streams is small—smaller than the fingerlings imitated by the average streamer. In low water, which is usual for most of the season, this smaller "fry" is easily seen by trout, while in high water it isn't. Now the "Streamettes" put out by Weber of Stevens Point, Wis., are the thing. These streamers were conceived by John S. Wise, Jr. and developed by S. R. Slaymaker II, in collaboration with Weber.

Streamers of conventional size frighten trout on low water. Not so the little streamettes. Because it matches in size one of those tiny food fishes on which trout and other game fish feed on.

These "Streamettes" come in seven popular, basic minnow patterns. They retail at 75 cents in plain style, and 90 cents with jungle cock trim. Try 'em.

Kinnard was two for three for Domestic.

In their third outing of the week, Maggini fell to the Pill Wagon aggregation, 7-2. Mark Werum was the winning hurler for Pill Wagon. Jim Cunningham with a pair of homers and Rick French with twin triples paced the Pill Wagon attack. Phil Mitchell made a sparkling catch to end the contest.

LAFAYETTE SPORT Center jumped on California Glass, 12-1, to conclude the action in the majors. Bob Smith was the victorious hurler for the Sport Center. Paul Shellenberg was three for five at the plate.

In Minor League play, Brennan's Restaurant racked up a pair of wins to retain their first place position. They started the week off edging WC Savings, 8-6, and then downed Jacuzzi Whirlpool, 5-3. Kevin Grady was the winning pitcher in both contests.

LYA Minor Race Won By Rheem

Although there is still a week of play left in the Lafayette Youth Association baseball season, the Rheem Center Merchants have been crowned champs of the recently-concluded Minor League play.

Rheem, who swept through the season with an 8-1 record, is currently taking part in a post-season double elimination tournament. However, the tournament results will have no effect upon the final league standings.

Elsewhere in the LYA, Orchard Nursery remains atop the Major League heap, and are still undefeated. In Pony League activity, LYA has a two-game bulge on the rest of the field.

MINOR LEAGUE
After having shut out Dave's Nursery 23-0, Rheem Center Merchants clinched the title with a convincing 14-3 victory over Lincoln Enterprises. Brian Pearson and Bob Boswell combined to handle the pitching chores for the winners. T. Jenney homered for the losers.

Pitching during the season for the newly-crowned champs was handled by Brian Pearson, Kevin Glasky, Scott Simpkin and Mike Starr.

Scott Simpkin was the leading hitter, followed closely by Bruce Mastick and Brian Pearson.

Lynne Abbes Runnerup at Chattanooga

Lynne Abbes, outstanding young Orinda tennis star, battled her way into the finals of the National 14-year Championships at Chattanooga last week, before succumbing to Peaches Barkowitz, 6-2, 6-3.

Even so the contest was much closer than the score indicated, as most games were carried to deuce, and could have easily gone either way.

Lynne, who has played all of her tennis on hard courts, experienced some difficulty in adapting to the clay courts. However, despite this problem, she turned in a most creditable performance in gaining the finals.

Seeded number three at the outset of the tournament, the young Orindan swept by the number two ranked girl, Patsy Rippy, in straight sets.

This week Lynne is participating in a tournament at St. Louis as further tuneup for the National 16's, which will get underway next week at Lakebluff, Illinois.

DRILLING COSTS
Drilling costs soar with depth. An oil well 15,000 feet deep can cost 30 times more than a well in the 3000-foot range.

Links Appliances wound up on top of Lincoln Enterprises, 5-1, to gain a split for the week's efforts.

Lafayette Rental and Hardware came back after losing one to top the resurgent Campana group, 8-2.

Lafayette Lions won their sole outing of the week, downing Sun Valley Lumber, 5-4.

Sports and Games won a pair to bring their season record just one game below the .500 mark. Sports and Games trimmed Gaston's, 4-1, and then rolled by Rheem Center, 8-1.

Merit Tanks also took the measure of Rheem Center by the tune of 9-2.

PONY LEAGUE

LYA won a pair during the week to stretch their league lead to a game and a half. In their initial encounter, they edged challenging Lafayette Dime and Dollar, 4-3. Steve Fink was on the mound for LYA, while Jack Beers accepted the loss for Dime and Dollar.

LaFiesta Barbers and Berkeley Farms battled to a 5-5 stand-

Rheem Preem for New Bank

RHEEM VALLEY BRANCH of Crocker Anglo Bank had its grand opening preview, Friday night, and a gala affair it was with about 5000 turning out between the hours of 6-9 p.m. The beautiful stone and glass bank with its striking landscaping is a handsome addition to Rheem Center.

In thanking everyone for attending the affair, Manager Allan L. Metzler announced: "We want you to feel that this is your bank. . . . And we hope to see you at 9 a.m. Monday—(when bank officially opened for biz)—with money."

GENIAL Safeway Manager & President of Rheem Merchants, Bush Bushman, drew the prize winning stubs. Winners were: E. Jahngien, Orinda; Bill Cely, Lafayette; Shirlene Scheve, Moraga; J. C. Ortland, Orinda; Susan Holloway, Lafayette; Bob Kammeyer, Orinda; Bill Hugbette, Orinda; Mrs. R. Metzger (Manager Metzler did a double take when he announced this name); Kathy Johnson, Lafayette; and Hugh Shannon, Orinda.

First prize winner won interest on $1 million for 1 day which amounted to $97.22. "You see, I told you you might win," said Mrs. Jahngien thrifly (if you'll pardon the Tom Swifty). Her husband had not wanted to attend.

Besides the cash prizes, the bank offered to guests free balloons, refreshments, free caricatures by Harijs and a tour of the vault. "It all looks very safe," said the burglar crackly.

Other bank officials on deck included Kay A. Lane, personal assistant manager. Pretty in pink, handing out data at the door, was Alice Smith, note teller, collections and gal Friday.

Among the lovely floral offerings were: A split philodendron from Duffel-Smoot; yellow mums from Rheem California Land Company; red Glads from Rheem Merchants; and a bit of artistry with orange caladium from King Nursery.

In lieu of flowers, Neldams Bakery sent a huge yummy cake. In all of the excitement, Manager Metzler forgot to cut it! Sarah Glaskey (with Barney) offered to cut a piece for Jane Putnam of The Sun who eyed the cake ravenously.

From Utah Territory was Helen Hetfield, proprietor of The Barn; Nita Murphy of Lafayette Territory with poodle Gigi; Frances Lax, realtor, from Orinda Territory and Moragans by the score as well as Rheemsters.

"GOOD LUCK BANK" we say interestedly.

NOTABLE QUOTE: Eugene Murphy, retired Oakland police inspector, stated during Saturday's eclipse: "I've been looking at The Sun for two hours and it didn't hurt my eyes." And thanks for the plug, Gene.

Our Hero . . . Recently, little Kimmie Dixon went into The Barn and announced to her parents and Art Fleuti: "Some boys set The Barn on fire!" Not paying too much attention to the child, they went outside to humor her. And the place, indeed, was on fire, and the culprits were running for cover. Fire Chief Al Baix and his men quickly extinguished the blaze. And Manuel Freitas cornered the firebugs in the bushes. The boys were six and seven years old, and the fire wasn't the only thing that was hot in the valley that night.

THE POEM about grandmother last week seemed to stir some interest. I received quite a few calls saying how much you had enjoyed it. Here's a followup on the modern women:

"Modern young mother on a warm spring day
Said to the milkman, "Another bill to pay?"
Yelled at the kids, "Down those eggs on the double
If you're late for school you'll really have trouble!"
Scooted them out just in time for the bus
And armed with more coffee to a friend she said thus;
"The dishwasher broke so I'm washing by hand.
My polish is chipped, my knuckles are like sand.
Hope that the girls of the bridge club won't see
What a mess the whole house is, and especially me.
But what can you do when your cleaning gal's ill
And can't find the time . . . but keep hoping you will.
I'd better hang up now, I really must scoot
To the cleaners to pick up hubby's wash and wear suit.
The kids had the last of the bread for their toast,
Have guests coming Saturday, so I must get a roast.
Say, what was the gal's name you had there last week?
I've a mountain of ironing that looks like Pike's Peak!
I'll see you at bowling, if I'm still alive.
Oh, my car needs a grease job so could you please drive?"
She started the washer and then made the beds,
Wrote a reminder—"Get junior those Keds."
Put in a few pincurls, then called to get
An appointment for manicure, shampoo and set.
Ran a few errands, came home to fix dinner,
Thought "This frozen TV meal is really a winner!"
Made sure that the kids got their homework all done
Reminded her husband "Let the dog out, please, hon?"
Watched all of Steve Allen, heaved several deep sighs
Climbed under the covers and closed her eyes.
She never would think to sit down and to play
"When you come to the end of a perfect day."

IN GRANDMOTHER'S DAY things really were rough
Compared to her, our life's not so tough.
We squawk and complain about too much to do,
But I wouldn't trade places with her, would you?"
Jo Tolhurst

THE FAMILY FESTIVAL at the Carroll Country Club Sunday was a huge success, selling over 500 tickets, for the carnival, with games, contests, prizes, swim show, cake, pie and candy booths, (all home made) (yummy). There were also sno-cones and a bar-be-que'd burger dinner. This affair should have fattened the "Extra Facility Kitty" by quite a bit.

GOLF NEWS of the Club: Ralph Schwarz won the play-off in the men's tourney. Gary and Pres Perdue were the low gross winners in the Father-Son tourney, Steve and Lloyd Lund took the low net honors.

Membership Committee for the Carroll Club: Members elected to the Board of Directors are: Bruce Hamilton, president; Mick Meredith, vice pres.; Edith Reed, secretary; Ralph Schwarz, treas; Members at large: Bob Sanderson, Don Swanson, and Chuck Stockwell.

WELCOME: to our new neighbors, of the Draeger Dr. area, James and Mary McCloy and family (8 children, oldest 12, youngest 3 weeks). They have been remodeling since January. Turning the attached garage into a beautiful family room and adding another bedroom to the bedroom wing, making a lovely, spacious home.

Congratulations also to James and Mary McCloy on their latest addition to the family 3 weeks ago, adding a boy and evening up the count to four boys and four girls.

Congratulations to Dane and Enid Pedersen, who have a baby girl born July 1 at the Kaiser Hospital in W.C., weighing in at 7# 4 oz. Dane, Enid and three boys are really thrilled with their new sister Kara Jane.

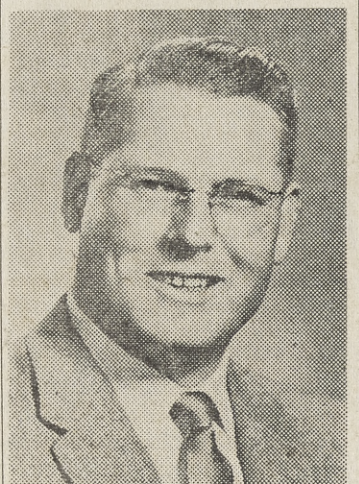

SAILING LAST week to Angel Island, were Charlie and Marie Wright and friends, wrapped in their eskimo attire for warmth, until they reached the island. Where they had their lunch and did some sunbathing until time to go home. When they found they were becalmed, with a current that pushed them back into the harbor, and a motor that wouldn't work. Shark Bait! But all is well. The wind returned and they sailed on home with only the black and blue bumps, as a reminder of a day of sailing. . . .

AL HASKELL was recently elected president of the School Board, and to Dr. Len Morgenstern was re-elected as clerk . . . Congrats!

Brown, McKeown Are Promoted By Wells-Fargo

CHARLES A. MCKEOWN

BROWN WAS advanced from manager to assistant vice president and manager of the bank's Orinda branch.

A native Californian, McKeown has been with Wells Fargo since 1934. An officer since 1945, he was promoted to assistant vice president and manager of the Polk-California branch in 1960 before moving to the Matson Building office in the same capacity last year.

Schroder Asks Showdown With Central Fire Dist.

Lack of plans for a fire station in Ygnacio Valley and location of a Geary Road station site just outside Walnut Creek city limits show a lack of city-Central Fire District coordination, Councilman Robert Schroder charged recently.

Referring to proposals that the city eventually form its own department, Schroder called for personal consultation between the council and Central's board and officials.

"Understand that I have no objections to the operation of the district," said Schroder, a 19-year veteran volunteer fireman. "BUT IT IS clear that we need more cooperation and understanding between the two agencies."

He said the district had recently purchased the Civic Drive site for a main station and had approved plans for a Boyd Road unit.

Beyond that, a site just 20 feet outside Walnut Creek has also been adopted in the Geary Road Putnam Boulevard area, he said.

"We must meet with the fire district and discuss the possibility of an eventual city department—and of the lack of a station in Ygnacio Valley, one of our most populous areas," Schroder commented.

He told The Sun later he was not for an immediate switch to a city fire department—"but it's something we have to think about for the future."

MAYOR NEWELL CASE observed that Mt. Diablo Fire District's "problems" in the Concord area had prompted discussion of consolidation of districts under county government.

The proposal was aired earlier by Supervisor Mel Nielsen, Case observed.

"Of course two of the fire districts in his area, Lafayette and Danville districts, are autonomous and wouldn't be affected by consolidation," the mayor remarked.

Councilman Frank Driscoll asked for preliminary communication between the two agencies by letter, but Schroder successfully pressed for a "face-to-face" meeting.

City Manager L. A. Kimball was told to set up the confrontation within the next several weeks.

Pregnant Wife Files Separate Maintenance

Mrs. Roberta H. Browne, 19 Easton Court, Orinda, recently filed a separate maintenance suit in Contra Costa County Superior Court. Her husband of two and a half years, Philip Browne, is an airlines pilot.

Mrs. Browne asks $750 monthly support for herself and their two children. Mrs. Browne expects a third child in January.

His monthly salary was given as $1750 a month.

The couple married in Georgia October 2, 1959, and separated last week.

Dr. John Whitcombe Receives Promotion

Dr. John A. Whitcombe of Orinda, an engineer at Shell Development Company's Emeryville Research Center, has been promoted to senior technologist and transferred to Shell Chemical Company in New York, Dr. T. W. Evans, the center's vice president, has announced.

In his new capacity, Dr. Whitcombe will be engaged in process development research for Shell Chemical's industrial chemicals division.

Dr. Whitcombe received his B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in chemical engineering from the University of Michigan in 1949.

Slated for Saturday, September 28, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., booths and stores will be laid out by architect Ted Milhous, with decorations and art work by Elaine Lawson.

CAROL PAULETTE VENEL*Robert Eberhart Will Marry

Carol Paulette Venel whose engagement was recently announced to Robert Clyde Eberhart of Orinda is planning an Aug. 4 wedding at the First Congregational Church in Los Angeles.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alfred Venel of Los Angeles. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Perrin Eberhart of Orinda, the brother of Lynda, Joan and Janice Eberhart. Robert is a graduate of Harvard University where he received his B.A. and B.S. degrees in 1958 and 1959. Having received his Masters Degree in 1961, he is presently a candidate for a doctorate in mechanical engineering at the University of California in Berkeley.

The couple plan to live in Oakland following their marriage and continue their studies at U.C.

Lita Cansino Is Teaching Here

A Spanish dancer of international renown, Lita Cansino, of the famous dancing Cansino family, is teaching "the Art of the Dances of Spain" this summer at the Jane Brown Ballet Studio in Pleasant Hill.

"Response to the class by children and adults has been so gratifying that the class will be continued this fall," said Miss Brown.

Lita Cansino, as a dancer and teacher, is one of the very few in the world who today represent the greatness of Spanish dance and carry on its true traditions. Her pupils will have an opportunity to study the rich heritage of this people's art in all the variety of its classic, folk and Flamenco forms, according to Miss Brown.

With her husband, the late Gabriel Cansino, Lita has danced on the concert stage, in moving pictures, theatres, hotels and in top supper-club revues all over the country.

As dancing partners, the Cansinos were part of a four-generation family tradition, including the famous brother and sister dance team of Eduardo and Eliza Cansino, and grandfather Antonio Cansino, who was ballet master of the Royal Opera House in Madrid.

Since no other Cansino is now teaching the art of Spanish dance, Lita Cansino is carrying on the family tradition herself. For this reason, she is expanding the area of her teaching from her own studio in San Francisco, to be available part of the time in Central Contra Costa.

In the future, Lita Cansino will also resume her career of public performance, and is planning joint appearances with Jane Brown, who has danced as soloist in theatres, concerts and night clubs throughout the eastern states.

Since coming to the West Coast, Jane Brown has performed as a soloist and choreographer for the Berkeley Theatre Arts Ballet, directed her own concert group in Contra Costa County for eight years and is now a member of the Associated Concert Artists.

Weekly classes for children and adults in "the Art of the Dances of Spain," taught by Lita Cansino, are being held all summer at the Jane Brown School of Ballet, 106 Astrid Drive Pleasant Hill.

These classes will run concurrently with the summer session in ballet and creative dance.

Further information may be obtained by phoning 934-0368.

Lollipops Help At Juvenile Hall

They are a relatively small group — but mighty in their works—these women who volunteer their services at the Hall Closet, a thrift shop sponsored by Lollipop Unit of the Auxiliary to the Contra Costa Juvenile Hall.

The Hall Closet is a continuing project maintained in Concord. Proceeds are used to assist the sheltered and delinquent youngsters confined to the hall.

Since they were organized in March of 1960, members throughout the central county have spent long hours sorting donated clothing and various household articles, readying them for sale and staffing the shop. Through their efforts more than $12,000 has been contributed to the auxiliary for use at the hall.

At the July 15 meeting of the auxiliary's executive board, Mrs. Blanche C. Johnston, Hall Closet director and member of the auxiliary's board of directors, presented a check for $2702.51—the largest semi-annual check since the start of the project, according to John Davis county probation officer.

He in turn presented the check to auxiliary president, Mrs. Russell Harmon, to be used at the discretion of the board to aid the Juvenile Hall youngsters.

Davis expressed the appreciation of the Probation Office and the Juvenile Hall staff members headed by Robert Hamlin for the outstanding efforts of Lollipop Unit members and the auxiliary.

Mrs. Otto Friedrich of Pleasant Hill, in her second term as Lollipop president, says that last year's proceeds from the Hall Closet enabled the auxiliary to provide 55 scholarships, 10 camperships, $200 worth of library materials and to finance two orthodontia cases, and a denture plate for a child.

Members who work with Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Friedrich in the Hall Closet project are Mrs. Wade West, vice president of Lollipop Unit; Mrs. Carlos Tidwell, Mrs. Everett Hinkle, Area A vice president; Mrs. Marvin Taylor, secretary, and Mrs. E. F. Prewitt and Mrs. Frank Thomas, co-managers.

Completing the list of Lollipop Unit volunteers are Mrs. W. J. Martin, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Swit, Mrs. Bob Giannini, Mrs. Jacob Drablos, Mrs. E. L. Wright, Mrs. T. H. Nicklaus, Mrs. A. C. Trette, Mrs. Tilden Baldwin, Mrs. Jesse Mavis and Mrs. Ursula B. Smith.

It's Such A Mess Let's Start Over

We approach the task of writing an editorial about the proposed school unification program within the Acalanes area with some trepidation.

Needless to say, it's a very confusing situation. And we fear that it may get worse before it gets better.

TO BACKTRACK for a moment, let's spell out what can be done about the school district organizational program in the Acalanes area.

The three-fold possibility is:

1. Leave the districts exactly as they are. Each elementary district would have its own school board, which is the situation now.

2. Total (or horizontal) unification. All elementary schools in the various communities, plus the five high schools, would be unified—governed by one board. A sidelined example is Richmond, which has a unified school district but separate boards for the elementary and secondary schools.

3. SPLIT (or vertical) unification. A "west" unified area of the Orinda, Moraga and Canyon school districts connected to Miramonte and Campolindo high schools. Then, an "east" area with the Lafayette and Walnut Creek elementary districts tied in with Acalanes, Del Valle and Las Lomas high schools.

For more than a decade the county has had its Committee on School District Organization.

A group of interested, public-spirited citizens has served on this committee.

SANS PROFESSIONAL legal help prior to their planning and policy-making decisions, the members have made some grievous errors.

The purpose of this editorial is not to chastise, but to pinpoint why every resident in the central county area should have extreme interest in the proposed unification program.

Just this week the Committee on School District Organization learned that some of its members had been illegally appointed.

If the proper legal advice had been available beforehand, this would not have happened.

In the last several months the committee has found itself in trouble at some of the hearings simply because there was a lack of quorum.

Again there apparently hadn't been the proper legal help given so that this minor point could easily have been sidestepped.

THE COMMITTEE further finds itself in turmoil because the district attorney's office has warned that it cannot rescind an earlier adopted action, viz, the proposal that the Committee on School District Organization recommend the "west" area unification plan to the State Board of Education.

The committee doesn't favor this plan, but it has high hopes the state will disapprove of it and thus allow the committee many more months to revise and work out a complete master plan for school unification.

As we said before, this proposed unification program as it now stands is in a first-class mess.

THE SUN can only agree with the committee's latest request to the state that an extension of time be allowed before any kind of a unification program is submitted.

Even after that the voters are going to have a crack at it anyway.

But we say—let's make a fresh start, have the proper legal advice available at the onset and from then on—and let's see if we can come up with the best possible unification program to submit to the voters.

Let's Straighten Out Juvenile Hall

The speeches have been made; the material printed; yet conditions remain a mess at the county's Juvenile Hall.

It's now time for some action.

News stories in recent weeks have pinpointed the unfortunate state of affairs at the hall.

But they've disclosed nothing unusual. Past county grand juries have said about the same thing.

FOR SOME TIME John Davis, county probation officer whose office has jurisdiction of the hall, has cited the bad conditions and agreed with most of the criticism.

One county health official admitted that sanitary conditions at the hall "stink."

Last week Superior Court Judge S. C. Masterson appealed to the board of supervisors that "in the name of humanity funds be supplied to give these unfortunate children the care and guidance necessary to restore their freedom and return them to their homes."

The jurist further charged the supervisors with failing to provide the probation office with enough help so that proper assistance could be rendered hall-confined youngsters and their families.

THE JURIST countered the tax arguments thrown at him by some supervisors that if more money had been spent earlier "not so much would be needed now."

This statement becomes even more important when you consider Judge Masterson's shocking statement that there have been instances of where youngsters have been detained at the hall for as long as 468 days!

The hall has an array of youngsters. Some have committed serious crimes, but for the most part they're boys and girls who've run away from homes, been neglected by their parents, or outright abandoned.

Supposedly the hall is a short-term facility for boys and girls, with some rehabilitation measures to be started and followed through.

THE SUN commends the supervisors for trying to hold the tax line.

But they must have the courage to take the necessary steps to solve a bad problem, and Juvenile Hall, in its current state, is a very bad problem.

We don't believe the average citizen wants to save a few pennies at the sacrifice of our young people.

That just doesn't make good sense.

Recently the Grand Jury suggested that the county could make a saving of almost $1 million a year in other parts of its operation.

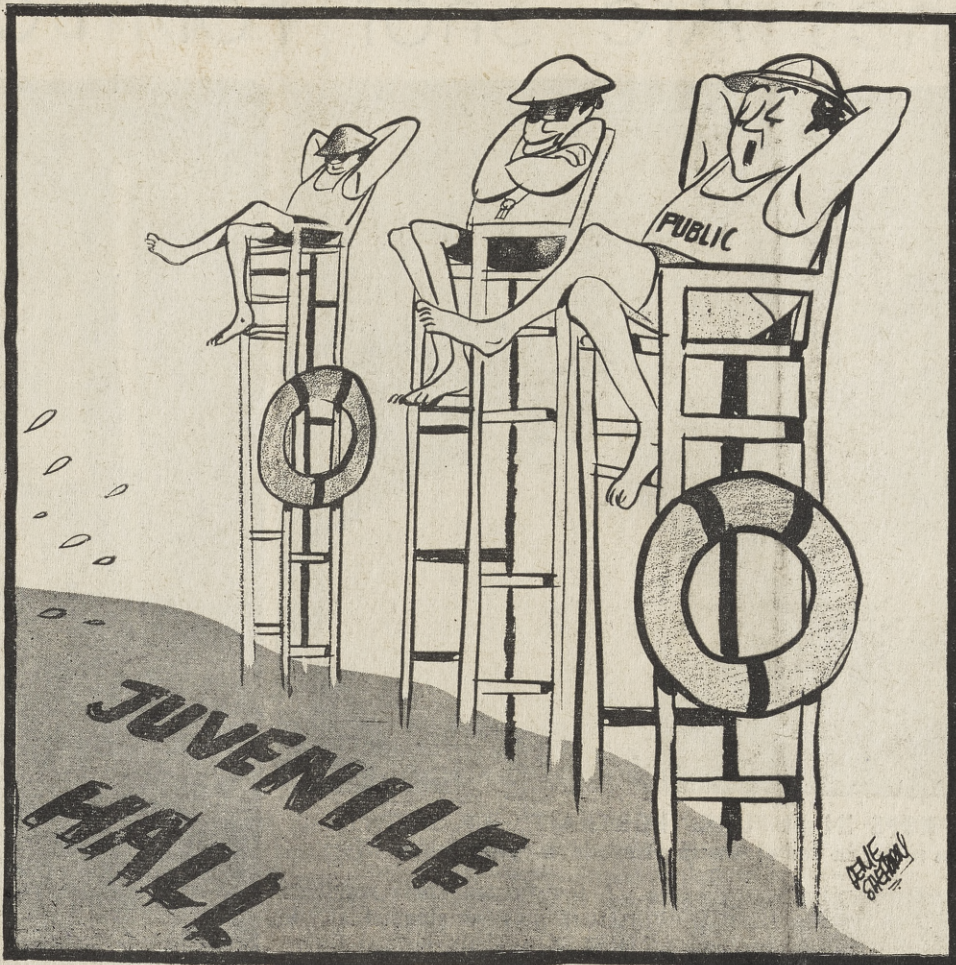

The supervisors recently didn't hesitate in granting county employees, with long tenure in office, four and five weeks summer vacation.

But now it's imperative for the supervisors to do something about the county's juvenile problems.

WE HONESTLY don't believe the average citizen will rant and rave at the supervisors if they allocate funds to correct this situation.

Do you?

(SEE EDITORIAL)

Letters to The Editor

A STAND FOR JUVENILE HALL EDITOR:

As women volunteers know well the feeling of righteous indignation against prevailing wrongs, we are taking this opportunity to present the Juvenile Hall in some aspects as we know from our experience. We have worked with these children in the neglected section and in the hall itself for an aggregate of almost 1000 hours in the space of 2½ years.

We deplore the use of unreliable sources for the facts reported to the press, and for the failure to explore the reasons behind the conditions noted.

Some examples: Obtaining information from teen-agers, who are at best discontented, rebellious against authority, prone to exaggeration and mercurial in their opinions, is a dangerous premise. It is like inviting them to make whole-sale evaluations on their teachers, parents or the police, all of whom would be described by any given group on one day as "stupid clods" and on another day as "pretty good heads."

The school situation: All of the youngsters in the cottage section attend public school except those who need remedial work before admittance is possible, or those who are soon to be sent to other school districts.

Recreation situation: The neglected children are often entertained more than most youngsters who live at home with their parents. For instance, their program for last week included bowling, three swimming parties, roller skating at a ring and a circus. Almost all of them were able to attend at least two of these, depending on age, suitability, etc.

The library situation: Books are kept in a locked section, available at stated hours, usually in the evening, for "take out" privileges. They must be kept out until finished. In a new four-month-old program, books of each section are changed every three weeks. About 50 books a week are donated by the County Library and by individuals and a committee of 12 volunteers keeps them rotating in all sections. They are kept locked because of the wanton destruction by some of the children.

The unfairness of the charges being bandied about to the staff at the hall and to the many volunteers and their hours of service prompts us to this effort to right a few wrongs.

As the late Pope John said, "One man in his lifetime can see many things, overlook a lot, correct a little."

We Like It Here... It's nice to have a nap 'round the house--!?!&?

By MARIE MONAHAN

AT THE RISK of sounding senile and/or lazy, I'm absolutely ACHING for a good nap.

You know, like a snooze in the sun or some of that elusive mid-day slumber?

Somewhere, somehow, I got the idea that summer was for a little loafing & resting.

But somewhere, somehow, the children who share this house have gotten just the opposite idea.

THEIR IDEA of summer is Go, Go, Go. Or to get Mom to Go, Go, Go.

But I'm not giving up without a fight. Which is what it amounts to.

Most mothers, let's presume, have the same problem. At least the Moms I know. Who are NOT of the Vogue variety that around all day in their lacey pignoirs.

Heaven knows we'd like to... but HOW?

AROUND HERE, I've only to drop into the hammock, drift off into Never-Never for a sec & I'll rue it the rest of the day.

"Hey, Mom, the paint spilled?" Or "Mom, is there something burning in the oven?"

Or heaven forbid—"MOM, Quick! The toilet's running over!"

Why is it that most of these turbulencies don't take place when you're on your two feet in front of the kitchen sink where you're usually prepared to face ANYTHING?

But it's not just the big things that interrupt a brief & blissful repose.

THE LITTLE THINGS are often worse. Like a hard nudge from someone who can't find her curlers or wants to know if next Saturday's okay for a slumber party.

BUT I keep trying. Don't you?

Quietly after dinner I do a disappearing act.

While everybody's entertaining that fellow General Bedlam in the living room, I tippy-toe through the door to the bedroom with a cup of coffee.

Curled up under a quilt with the newest magazine (I hide it beforehand under my pillow), I sigh great sounds of pampered comfort.

BT NOT FOR LONG.

The next you know there are two, maybe three leggy & very twitchy bodies flung out around me.

One has a ping pong ball he keeps pitching at a bedside wall. Ping, pong... ping, pong.

Another's playing solo catch; from left to right hand with glove & baseball. Pam, pow... Pam, pow!

The third one has moved in on MY pillow over MY shoulder & is making impatient noises for me to turn the page of MY magazine.

By this time Baby is clicking a pair of pretty picture frames together flamenco-fashion & is taking up coffee drinking from my boudoir table. Which being white wicker does not wear brown coffee stains well.

BUT I keep right on trying.

I read once where Arline Francis spent a whole day a week in bed. She owed it to herself, she said.

Well, I feel the same way, Sweeties. But when I took Arline's advice & took to bed one day with plumped-up pillows & a pile of books, the family sent out an S.O.S. for the Doctor.

And do you know WHAT? Darned if he didn't go & FIND something wrong with me!

You can't win. But we can all keep trying!

outlined above, does not seem to be the Sun's policy.

As I recall you attacked Supervisor Nielsen for the amount of his official traveling and for his individual expenditures while traveling. You recently attacked him stating he was responsible for your loss of county advertising. You tried to raise a question of conflict of interest in his performance of duties.

The extent of his travelling was in the public interest and he did more than others because he made the time available. His expenditures were modest. As to the conflict of interest—it is virtually impossible for a public official to avoid matters that may have some business or personal relationship.

Regarding your loss of County advertising—your news story gives the best reason for your having lost it. After your having it for 25 years, it was time for another newspaper to get it. As a public spirited newspaper you should congratulate your supervisor for this action.

According to comparative circulation figures for news issue circulation in the district it appears the county advertising in the other publication will make it available to more persons.

To date, in recent months, I do not feel you have properly presented the good points of Supervisor Nielsen's representation but you have only picked at a few threads of issues and used these in a manner to cast a ray of doubt on the man.

All Work, No Pay-- I Like It!

By CANDY BETTENCOURT

A funny thing happened to me on the way to the dean's office. I joined a contest.

Well, at least I thought it was a contest. I am somewhat of a compulsive contest joiner so when I saw these little entry blanks I was naturally intrigued.

But my dreams of a free trip to Tahiti or a new car were crushed when I read the form and found out it was an application for the Career Exploration Course. The CEC (as it is called by the participants or those who are too lazy to spell out all those syllables) is a program for high school upperclassmen to help them find out what career they would like to pursue.

THE STUDENT can choose any field he wants and, if accepted, will get a temporary non-paying job in his particular field.

Right away I have stated two facts that would discourage today's average teen. First of all, half of the nation's young people think that work without pay is for the birds. The other half feel that just plain work is for the birds. Ignoring my tendencies towards laziness and my empty pocket-book, I decided to delve into the realms of the working class.

MY FIRST problem was deciding on a career. Ruling out such things as a Playboy Bunny Girl (too many occupational hazards) or a ditch-digger (I have a trick right shoulder) I finally decided to explore journalism. I chose journalism because I was planning on taking it in my next year at high school and I also figured it would be a job where I would get a good chance to work and participate. Little did I know what was in store for me.

THEN I BEGAN a long series of interviews and the grueling trial of trying to impress people. My first interview was with the director of the CEC. The interview was after school so I decided to wear my stunning new pink wool outfit.

As luck would have it, the day of the interview was the hottest day of the school year and here I was in wool with the rest of the student body figures that this individual must be going on a field trip.

It turned out that the only field trip scheduled for that day was for the Block M, but I won't go into that.

TO MAKE a long story short I was accepted by the CEC. To make an even longer story shorter, I ended up working at The Sun.

I was thrilled with my job but I had a few problems to overcome. For one thing, I cannot type. And not being able to type in journalism is a real handicap.

I have my own little hunt-and-peck method that I've got down to a science. It's a source of amazement to those around me as to how I can go so fast by using just two fingers. I'm sure that these two fingers must be shorter after my six weeks of work at The Sun.

My specialty (if you can call it that) is bride stories. After six weeks of brides with an average of eight brides a week, I have to admit that at the present time I am dead set against marriage. I have been encouraging my friends to elope so they will make it easier on any future as a society editor.

AFTER MY fifth bride of the day my typing is finally shot (it was shot at the beginning of the day so you can imagine what it is like at the end of the day).

IN CHECKING over my work I find some precious mistakes. One common error is instead of saying so-and-so is the son of so-and-so, my finger slips over to the next key and he becomes the son of his parents. This could prove to be embarrassing if it ever got in the paper.

Another problem is my grammar. My improper subject-verb agreement and my faulty pronoun reference is finally catching up to me. I'm always coming up with such literary gems as "couple are" and other treasures that just don't sound right when they're done correctly.

One thing that is so appealing to me is the excitement in the air on Thursday, or Press Day. All day long there is a constant coming and going and

Under The Sun I Found It Easy To Stop Smoking Cigarettes!

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

I think cigarette smoking is a severe hazard to health.

I'm most impressed with the scientific reports proving this fact. Apparently there is little or no room to doubt the facts.

Furthermore, I'm going to practice what I preach. I've given up cigarette smoking.

How? Here's the secret:

This has not been difficult. I never have smoked cigarettes.

I'm certain you'll agree that I won't find it difficult writing this column on the dangers of smoking cigarettes.

If the medical profession proves that pipe and cigar smoking is hazardous, it would be a different story. Cause I smoke a pipe and have an occasional cigar.

But since I don't smoke cigarettes, I can "objectively" report the latest findings.

Of course, what I'm trying to say is that it's easy for me to sit here and tell YOU to stop smoking cigarettes.

A research project

But obviously this boils down to an individual decision. A person must read the facts, weigh the evidence and decide what to do.

Have you read the latest report from the California State Board of Public Health? If you have, you can stop reading the balance of the column.

Well, if you're still here, let me explain that the State Board has authorized a state-wide campaign because cigarettes are a "severe hazard to health." Here are the five reasons cited:

1—The chances of dying of lung cancer are 14 times higher for smokers than non-smokers—and 25 times higher for smokers of two packs a day.

2—A report on smoking indicates that 100,000 children in California now of school age, will die of lung cancer before they reach 70.

And heart disease, too

3—Deaths from coronary heart disease are twice as high among smokers as among non-smokers.

4—Males in the 24 to 64 age group who smoke, suffer more actively-limiting chronic conditions and disabilities than non-smokers.

5—A 1955 survey indicates that Californians smoke more than other Americans, especially Californians under the age of 24.

Well, that's the report. What do you think?

hectic times are had by all. The constant battle for a typewriter, a desk, a match, a cup of coffee or a grease pen is always raging.

The noise of the presses rolling, the click of typewriters and the constant ringing of telephones is a pulse beat of the office that can't be ignored. The coming and going of people is always noticeable as there is always a constant parade of greasy printers wanting more copy and different editors limping, walking, dashing stopping by my desk trying to get their papers out.

AFTER THE noise and rush of Thursday, Friday morning seems so quiet with its church-like solemnity.

Everyone is relieved that the paper is out. There are always people milling around the office saying "Good paper, good paper" as they check for mistakes. Everyone is anxious to see how the printers have done with their prize stories and then the laughing (or crying) over typographical errors, forgotten pictures and garbled captions.

Then comes the long weekend (long for me and short for those who must work on Saturdays). And then the Monday morning staff meeting, where everyone sits in cramped quarters hashing over last week's efforts.

Then onto the next week which has plenty of surprises in store for all.

Even though the people complain about their jobs at times, I think that they are really satisfied with their work.

There aren't too many occupations where a person can actually see the results of his week-long struggle. The finished newspaper is the evidence of the newsman's long, hard week.

That is what probably intrigues me the most about this occupation. The fact that what little I do shows up for the whole county to see. It's a source of great satisfaction for me.

MAYBE THE thrill of seeing your work in print wears off the longer you are in the business. But I think that there is always something, whether it be the noise of the press, the thrill of communication, or the constant activity in the office, that keeps the newspaperman doing his job and gives him the initiative to do better.

I enjoy the excitement of Press Day. I'm glad to have been a part of it, however small my part was. I've done a lot on the paper and I feel as though I was given a good sample of what's in store for me should I decide to make the newspaper my career.

After going through all the throes of getting out a weekly newspaper I can't imagine how any company could do it daily. But after my experience at The Sun I'd like to try anything.

HANDHEWN CROSSES SHOT FOR TV
St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Walnut Creek

A few Contra Costa residents were somewhat startled at the sight of a black hooded figure and a tripod lined up in front of several churches in the area recently, while a casually attired young man lit candles inside. Viewers will find out what it was all about when they turn on their television sets to KRON-TV's "PORTRAIT" on a Wednesday evening sometime this fall.

LARRY RUSSELL, writer-producer of Channel Four's PORTRAIT series of impressionistic documentaries, seen at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday evenings, and Al Kihn, cameraman, are a two-man production team sent over from KRON-TV studios in San Francisco to film some of the unusual new church architecture here.

Women Voters Hear Juvenile Hall Speaker

The League of Women Voters of Concord-Diablo Valley met at the home of Mrs. James Keating, 5 Albo Court, Orinda, Tuesday at 1 p.m.

John Davis, county probation officer, addressed the group on the subject of "Juvenile Hall: Problems and Prospects," according to Mrs. Norman Gold, who arranged the program.

Dessert was served and swimming followed Davis' speech, said Mrs. John Kinney, president of the league.

She emphasized that this meeting presented an especially fine opportunity for interested women to become acquainted with league activities. Members usually meet in small study groups to examine government issues on a non-partisan basis and take action on them.

Membership is open to all women citizens of voting age.

Citizen's Groups Are Suggested for Schools

Citizens' committees and a council of district superintendents are two possibilities being considered by County Superintendent Floyd Marchus as a means of achieving closer contact with both the public and the school districts.

Dr. Marchus has presented the ideas to the Contra Costa County Board of Education in a report on an evaluation of the department and the action proposed as a result.

The survey by a visiting committee last winter was similar to evaluations of California high schools under the Western Association of Schools and Colleges.

THE EVALUATION committee recommended that the department attempt to overcome the fact that the public is unfamiliar with the office of the county superintendent and the services it provides.

The unfamiliarity is encountered, the committee states, even among teachers and others in the schools.

In response to critical comment on the quality of some workshops and the consultants conducting them, the county superintendent's report noted that a systematized method of gauging both should be established.

The possibility was explored of using more fully the talents of local teachers, administrators and consultants, rather than outside consultants.

More cooperation with school districts at the planning stage of workshops is also proposed.

OTHER responses to recommendations were reported as follows:

The department will introduce the use of IBM for booking films circulated to the schools.

Certificated staff members are welcome to form a salary committee.

However, the report comments, the need for such has not been apparent in the past, possibly because "the salary schedule has been relatively favorable."

EVALUATION of both the certificated and classified staffs is being considered.

An attempt is being made to remedy overcrowded conditions in the county library and office building at Pleasant Hill. The final decision on such matters is made by the county administrator.

Consisting of 12 members, the evaluation committee drew its membership from school districts, the State Department of Education, Parent-Teacher Association and Dads' and Mothers' Clubs and included a visiting county superintendent of schools.

Clement To Be Crusade Leader

Eugene R. Clement, utility executive in Contra Costa for 26 years, will direct the district business division throughout the county for the 1963 United Bay Area Crusade campaign.

Appointment of Clement was announced today by Karl Ellingson, general chairman of the crusade.

Clement is a professor of education and an Alameda State College professor of education.

Boy Scout Camp Conducts Special Sunday Services

Special Sunday services for Boy Scouts at Camp Wolfeboro are part of the weekly program for boys and leaders from the various communities of the Mt. Diablo Council's area—all of Contra Costa County, plus Berkeley and Albany, according to John S. Youmans, director of public relations.

PROTESTANT services are conducted each Sunday morning by Don Rudrud, camp chaplain, whose home was Van Nuys, California.

Rudrud just completed his second year as a seminarian at St. Paul, Minn.

At the end of the summer camp session he will report to a church in Maryland for a year's internship before qualifying for a position as pastor.

Scouts and leaders who are Catholic have mass at 7 p.m. each Sunday at the Big Meadow Camp Ground near the entrance to the Camp Wolfeboro road.

These services are conducted by a priest from a near-by community and as the result of arrangements made through Bishop Donohue of Stockton, formerly of the Archdiocese of San Francisco.

MEMBERS OF THE Church of Latter Day Saints (when in camp) hold services conducted by their leaders, who hold positions of authority within their own church.

Attendance has been about 175 at the Protestant services and above 75 for Catholic mass.

New Beauty Salon's Open House Attracts Hundreds

Chez Suzette had its official opening yesterday at 1543 Botsford Drive, Walnut Creek. The beauty salon has been in operation in the Walnut Creek Plaza, next to Mobilia of Denmark, for three weeks.

Mrs. Majorie Rich is the owner.

AT CHEZ SUZETTE, milady will receive expert attention in styling and coloring by three leading stylists in the newest, most modern beauty salon, according to Mrs. Rich.

The stylists are Victor Adam, Miss Barbara Smith and Miss Margie Lee Parisi.

Victor, the manager, is a native of California. He began his career in New York City studying under Leon Amandola, instructor of over 50,000 top stylists in the United States and Europe.

VICTOR recently received a plaque from Clairol, New York.

It is the "Clairol Hair Coloring Specialist award for outstanding hair coloring ability."

He was one of the first in the area to offer local ladies the advantage of owning an imported wig.

Miss Smith is a graduate of Walnut Creek Beauty College and has had several years of experience.

MISS PARISI formerly was with another shop in Walnut Creek, coming here from the Los Angeles area. She is an Eskat-technician, specializing in Eskat permanent waves.

Mrs. Tommie Tellas will give manicures and facials. Mrs. Tellas formerly owned and operated her own shop in Florida.

Miss Scotty is from Glasgow, Scotland. She is Chez Suzette's "mascot" and "pamperers patrons with shampoos and personal service," according to Mrs. Rich.

San Francisco to Host Famed Mexican Ballet

San Francisco will play host to Mexico's brilliant National Dance Co., the famed Ballet Folklorico, for five performances at the Masonic Memorial Auditorium, August 22, 23, 24, evenings at 8:30 with matinees on August 24 and 25 at 2:30, according to Amalia Hernandez, founder and director.

The second American tour is presented by S. Hurok under the local auspices of Moss and Hayman attractions.

TICKETS ARE now on sale at Sherman-Clay box offices in San Francisco and Oakland.

A musical mosaic of the extraordinarily colorful culture of Mexico are among the dancers.

COMMAND PERFORMANCE—Sir Sedley, talented ventriloquist, presents King Fuddle Saturday afternoon from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Loray Super Market, Walnut Creek. Kiddies are cordially invited to come down and meet the occupants of Sir Sedley's "Kookie Kastle." The Royal Court will include such personages as King Fuddle, Princess Cuddles Fuddle, Mister Crafty, Willie the Whale and many more.

Tomorrow Last Day For Display Of Paintings

The Central Library, 1750 Oak Park Boulevard, Pleasant Hill, holds the position of presentation designer with the Fiberboard Corporation.

"Oat Fields in Autumn," painted by Glen Wessels, and "Stained Glass Fleet," by Don Clausen are from the Village Gallery.

The public is reminded that tomorrow will be the last day the paintings will be on exhibit.

The Gallery Association is represented by a painting, "Obsidian Cliff," by Robert L. Elsocht of Oakland, Bay area artist who has won awards at the California State Fair, the Berkeley Festival, the El Cerrito Art Festival, and the Walnut Creek Art Show.

ELSOCHT WAS born in Brussels, and was graduated from the College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, where he met his wife Eleanor who is also an artist.

Both have exhibited their work at the El Cerrito Public Library where monthly art shows are sponsored by the Gallery Association.

Elsocht is currently president of the Oakland Art Association.

Art is a hobby with him; he is a member of the Contemporary Arts, and Marian Hodges Gallery.

A collection of art books also is on display in the Central Library.

Because of the wide interest in art in Contra Costa County, the county library considers for purchase many of the outstanding volumes published in the field of fine arts.

Some of the beautifully illustrated books selected are too expensive to be bought in duplication it was reported.

When only one copy is purchased, it is assigned to the Central Library, but is available to branch libraries on temporary loan when requested.

Most of these books may be borrowed for home reading on the usual three week loan period.

Some of the books containing excellent color reproductions are: Werner Haftmann's "Painting in the Twentieth Century," the U. S. National Gallery of Art's "Treasures from the National Gallery of Art," Paolo Enrico Aria's "A History of 1000 Years of Greek Vase Painting,"

Raymond Bloch's "Etruscan Art," Yukio Yashior's "2000 Years of Japanese Art," Roman Ghirshman's "Persian Art," Edouard Manet's "Watercolors and Pastels," and Lionello Venturi's "The Sixteenth Century, from Leonardo to El Greco."

"Great Drawings of All Time," a four volume set, is edited by Ira Moskowitz.

Library to Celebrate Golden Anniversary

By BERTHA D. HELLM

County Librarian

During the 50 years since the establishment of the Contra Costa County Library, vast changes have occurred in public library services to children.

In 1913, there were no professional children's librarians in the county library; today there is a staff of eight.

The Contra Costa County Library was fortunate, however, because Mrs. Alice G. Whitbeck, the first county librarian, had been a children's librarian in the Berkeley Public Library, and her interest in work with children never flagged.

Not only did she buy all the children's books as well as adult books at first, but old-timers in the county still remember her visiting school classrooms to tell stories and show art reproductions.

A BANNER YEAR for children's services at the Contra Costa County Library was 1913 when Mildred Burroughs (now Mrs. Alex Partansky) became the first children's librarian in the system. She was followed by Mrs. Maxine Mcann, Mary Jacqueline Green (now Mrs. Frank Sennello), Mrs. Bernice Gantt and Frances Lee.

By 1960, the population explosion in Contra Costa County had brought with it new demands for library services.

Large, modern buildings had already been built in Orinda and Concord; others were under way in Walnut Creek, Danville, San Pablo, El Sobrante, El Cerrito and Lafayette, and ground had been broken for the new Central County Library in Pleasant Hill.

The need for more extensive library service to children was ever more pressing.

AT THAT TIME, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Lockhart came to Contra Costa County as supervisor of children's services from the New York State Library, where she had been consultant in children's services.

Under her supervision, both staff and book collection grew quickly.

Professional children's librarians were appointed to the larger branches and the central library.

Story hours for both school-age and pre-school children were established on a weekly basis during the school year at the central library and Concord, El Cerrito and Walnut Creek branch libraries.

A SYSTEMATIC program of cooperation between the county library and the schools was initiated. In-service training courses in library work with children, begun in 1959, were continued in cooperation with both campuses of Contra Costa College.

"The children's librarian," says Mrs. Lockhart, "bears a

Pilot Program Gives Jobs to Stricken Kids

Eight teenagers with multiple handicaps are holding down "summer jobs," coveted and cherished by all high school students, at the Easter Seal Rehabilitation Workshop, 240 South Sixth Street, Richmond.

ACCORDING TO Hasan Malik, director of the Workshop, the "summer jobs" involve work experience in a variety of activities provided by sub-contracts with industry.

The eight client-workers spend a full seven-and-a-half hour day at the workshop, working side by side with other clients.

The summer work experience is part of a three year pilot study being conducted by the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Contra Costa County to determine the work capacity and work potential of multiple handicapped young persons.

All in the project have been afflicted since birth with two or more physical handicaps—paraplegia, quadriplegia, problems of speech and language, deafness, and difficulties with eye-hand coordination.

VOLUNTEER consultant for the program is Dr. Lloyd Meadows, associate professor of special education and rehabilitation counseling, San Francisco State College.

All eight of the summer job holders are students in special classes for the handicapped during the school year, and will return to their classroom work in the fall.

Rotary Governor Guest Speaker At Walnut Creek

J. Price Gittinger of Davis, governor of district 516 of Rotary International, world service organization, arrived here July 23 to visit the local Rotary club, one of the 56 clubs in his district.

In addition to addressing the Walnut Creek Rotarians at their meeting, he conferred with Sal Blasquez, president of Rotary Club of Walnut Creek, and other club officers on Rotary administrative matters and service activities.

Gittinger is associate director of relations with schools for the University of California and is a member and past president of the Rotary club of Davis. He was elected to the 1963-64 Rotary's 54th annual convention in St. Louis, Missouri, last June.

Gittinger is one of 272 district governors responsible for supervising the activities of more than 11,500 Rotary clubs with a total membership of 535,000 Rotarians in 129 countries around the globe.

"The visit of the governor," said the president of the local club, "is a time for examining the effectiveness of what we are doing to achieve Rotary goals in community improvement, in work, in raising the standards of our businesses and professions, and in doing what we can as a Rotary club and as individual Rotarians to help further international understanding.

THE GOVERNOR of this Rotary district, Gittinger supervised the organization of new clubs in his area.

Last year, more than 300 new Rotary clubs were organized in 46 countries, with clubs being formed for the first time in the West African country of Sierra Leone.

Before assuming his duties as district governor, Gittinger attended an eight-day meeting at Lake Placid, New York.

New Dental Clinic Now In Market for Patients

Diablo Valley College's new dental hygiene clinic, installed as part of a training program for dental hygienists, opened for business this week and is in the market for patients, according to Dr. R. L. Matkin, program head.

Making reports that such services as teeth cleaning, the application of fluorides and instruction in oral therapy are available to the public upon the payment of a $1 registration charge and nominal fees.

X-ray services will be added late next fall.

DURING THE summer the clinic will be open from 8 to 11 a.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Treatment is available to anyone 6 years of age or older, although written parental permission is required for persons under the age of 18.

Appointments may be made by calling the clinic at the college.

The dental hygiene program, sponsored jointly by the governing board of the Contra Costa Junior College District and the University of California, operates under the close supervision of the university's College of Dentistry.

Its 12 students, with a year of training already behind them, are now in their clinical phase of instruction, working on patients under the personal direction of Dr. Matkin and Miss Fumiko I. Saito, dental hygienist.

The program, opened last September, is the only two-year training course in California and the western states offered at the junior college level and in other than a dental school.

IT WAS ESTABLISHED by the college in cooperation with the Contra Costa Dental Society

Congressman to Back Kennedy on 'Civil Rights'

Congressman John F. Baldwin announced this week that he will vote for the President's Civil Rights Bill.

In support of his statement, the representative added, "I don't believe that there should be discrimination on the grounds of race, color, creed or national origin in public schools, public parks, transportation or other publicly-owned facilities, or in those places of business which must obtain from a public body a license or permit to serve the public, such as theaters, restaurants, retail stores, hotels and motels."

BALDWIN WENT on to say, "My party was originated by Abraham Lincoln, who believed deeply in the principle that 'all men are created equal.'"

"The 1960 platforms of both political parties contained planks supporting this principle, and it is time the principle is carried out."

It was noted that the congressman had voted for the amendments offered on the house floor to bar federal aid to hospitals or schools which discriminated on the grounds of race, color, creed or national origin.

The latter civil rights amendments, however, suffered defeat. According to Baldwin, it now appears that the administration has placed a "first priority" rating on the passage of a broad civil rights bill during this session of congress.

BALDWIN pointed out that the Democrat leadership in the House and Senate have apparently agreed and both of these actions represent a substantial switch from the indicated attitude on such legislation which has been demonstrated by the administration and the house democratic leadership during the past two years.

The congressman commented on the 1960 presidential campaign wherein President Kennedy made many strong speeches on civil rights, indicating his intention to submit immediate recommendations to congress for the passage of a broad civil rights bill.

Baldwin reports that when the president was inaugurated in January, 1961, no such strong recommendation for broad civil rights legislation was submitted to congress by the president.

AND, ACCORDING to the congressman, some of Kennedy's supporters in congress introduced such a bill on their own initiative, but this measure was not pushed or given any active support by the administration and did not even get out of the House Judiciary Committee during the two-year term of the 87th Congress.

The congressman added, "Since the judiciary committee had a membership of 21 democrats to 14 republicans, it is evident that if the administration and the house democratic leadership had desired action on the bill, that it would have been approved by the committee."

A Banner Year For U.S. Bonds; —$488,381 Here

"U.S. Savings Bonds are enjoying a banner year," Volunteer Contra Costa County U.S. Savings Bonds Chairman E. M. Downer Jr. announced here today when reporting June sales of U.S. Savings Bonds in Northern California reached a record total of $10,736,493.

The chairman attributed climbing sales to the current national Freedom Bond Drive which is asking every American family to buy one or more extra bonds during the drive as a personal action program for keeping freedom in their future.

"Northern California sales for the six-month period of January-June, 1963, amounted to $70,936,932," the chairman continued, comparing this with sales of $64,981,513 for the same period a year ago.

"Ten years ago," he noted, "Northern California U.S. Savings Bonds sales for January through June were reported as $52,627,773."

On a local note, he advised county residents that they helped the Freedom Bond Drive to the tune of $488,381 worth of Savings Bonds purchases during the month of June.

"National holdings of U.S. Savings Bonds are at an all-time high of over $46 billion," he said, "making the bond program of major importance in maintaining our nation's economic stability."

County Tax Revenues Show an 8.4% Increase

Local sales and use tax distributions resulting primarily from sales during the first quarter of 1963 amounted to $61,490,400, according to John W. Lynch, chairman of the State Board of Equalization.

This revenue, allocated to cities and counties during May and June, was 7.8 per cent higher than distributions during the second quarter of 1962.

TOTAL SALES tax revenue distributions to Contra Costa County for fiscal year 1961-62 amounted to $1,203,594 and fiscal year 1962-63 to $1,208,594.

Concord received $545,509 for FY 1961-62 and $610,856 for FY 1962-63 with the resulting 12 per cent increase in distributions.

Pleasant Hill received $27,500 in FY 1961-62 representing a three-months distribution and $218,579 in FY 1962-63.

Walnut Creek received $628,821 for fiscal year 1961-62 and $719,558 for fiscal year 1962-63 with the resulting increase of 14.4 per cent.

Amounts received for all of the cities within Contra Costa County and distributions to the County itself showed $4,796,428 for fiscal year 1961-62 and $5,200,370 for 1962-63 with an 8.4 per cent increase.

Distributions to cities and counties during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1963, totaled $261,220,900, or 8.6 per cent more than in the preceding fiscal year.

Lynch noted that almost half of this increase is attributable to general improvement in the business situation, while population growth and inflation account for the rest of it.

THE ONE per cent levy on first-quarter business gave rise to $48,596,000 for California's cities, $8,804,800 for her coun-

Grodin's Ram Shop Has 'Merry Old England'

Copied after the exclusive haberdashers of London, the Rams Head shop in the newly expanded Grodins of California in Walnut Creek, sports such English touches as 19th century street lamps imported from London, and colorful heraldic flags.

Inside this part of the store, massive beams will create a series of shops within the shop to retain the feeling of light and airiness which is associated with the famous Burlington Arcade in London.

The individual shops will be marked by antique armories.

DOWN THE center of the arcade's white marble floor will be a series of English hunt stables for merchandise displays.

The new Grodins Ram Shop will be the first men's shop in Contra Costa County to have a barber shop.

The Rams Head will feature Ivy league clothes. It will be divided into departments of haberdashery, shirts and gifts.

The Pants Pit, a department devoted to a huge selection of casual slacks and Levis; Cloaks and Suits, featuring a selection of natural shoulder suits and sports coats.
